

THE WEATHER

Today and Wednesday—Fair and moderately warm.
Sun rises Wednesday 4:17. Sets 9:00.
Light vehicles by 9:30.
Edmonton Temperatures Monday—Maximum, 68 above; Minimum, 48 above.

SIXTIETH YEAR. VOL. LX, No. 162

If You Don't Get The Bulletin, You Don't Get All the News—Nor the Pictures!

Edmonton Bulletin

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER IN PUBLIC SERVICE

EDMONTON, ALBERTA—TUESDAY, JULY 9, 1940

WHEAT CLOSE

TUESDAY
WINNIPEG CLOSE — July, 71½; Oct.
73½; Dec., 74½.

Single Copy, Five Cents

THIS FRENCH BATTLESHIP

35,000-Ton Richelieu Put Out Of Action

Seven French Capital Ships Now Accounted For First Lord Of Admiralty A. V. Alexander Tells House Of Commons

By HOMER JENKS

British United Press. Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, July 9.—A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons today that the 35,000-ton French dreadnaught Richelieu had been put out of commission by British air and naval action.

The Richelieu, newest battleship in the French fleet, was attacked by British motor boats and British aircraft at Dakar, the French Senegal port in West Africa where it was lying.

Alexander described the Richelieu as the "most modern and formidable capital ship in the world immediately available for operations." The Richelieu was completed by the French just before the armistice and was believed to have been at sea on trial runs when hostilities came to an end.

LLOYD GEORGE NOW EXPECTED JOIN CABINET

Growing Demand Heard For Resignation Of Chamberlain

By FREDERICK KUH

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, July 9.—David Lloyd George, World War premier of Britain, now 77, but described as "fighting mad and full of ideas about how to meet the threatened invasion," was reported today to be an imminent choice for Prime Minister Winston Churchill's cabinet.

Well informed members of parliament believed his entry into the cabinet would coincide with Neville Chamberlain's exit.

There was a growing demand that Chamberlain, the former Prime Minister and now President of the Council, must go, and it was believed that Churchill would fill the gap with the fiery Welshman, Lloyd George.

He had with Chamberlain prevented Lloyd George from joining the government earlier. Churchill has supported Chamberlain against widespread criticism, based on the conduct of the early part of the war by Chamberlain's government.

A new blow has fallen: publication by the News Chronicle of a poll showing that a cross-section of British voters are 77 per cent in favor of Chamberlain's resignation.

The poll, which followed the passing of anti-Chamberlain resolutions by many trade unions including the powerful national railwaymen's union, also showed that 63 per cent

Continued on Page 2, Col. 7

German Warships Set On Fire By British Bombers

LONDON, July 9.—Two German warships were reported set afire early today in British bombing raids on German naval bases and dry-docks. They were believed to be either destroyers or light cruisers.

The ministry's statement said British bombers set on fire an ammunition dump at Bergen today and bombed aircraft lined up at Sola airdrome, Stavanger, in German-occupied Norway.

In raids yesterday and today, eight British aircraft failed to return, the statement said.

VALETTA, Malta, July 9.—An Italian plane was shot down by British guns during a brief raid today. Five air alarms were sounded yesterday, but there was no actual attack.

National League All-Stars Beat Americans 4 To 0

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Max West's first inning, three-run homer was the big blow in today's 4-0 victory of the National League over the American League in the eighth annual All Star baseball game.

American . . . 000 000 000—0 3 1

National . . . 300 000 014—4 7 1

Literature Seized

WINDSOR, Ont., July 9.—Windor police continued their round-up of the recently outlawed Jehovah's Witnesses today with the arrest of Gordon Cripe, 31, Windsor, and seizure of 20 cartons of literature, including more than 10,000 pamphlets. Cripe is held under Defence of Canada regulations.

French Fleet At Alexandria Surrenders To British Guard

French Fleet At Alexandria Surrenders To British Guard

The photo at top was made as units of the British and French fleets lay at anchor in the harbor of Alexandria, Egypt, ready to challenge Italian or German moves in the Mediterranean. They were allies then—but now the French warships in the harbor are under guard of a battle squadron of British ships. The French commander at Alexandria, faced with an ultimatum demanding co-operation with Britain, has agreed to have his ships put out of service. A number of cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the French fleet are unaccounted for at present, and at right three French men-of-war are shown during a recent cruise. They are the cruiser Georges Leygues (leading) and her sister ships, the Montcalm and the Gloire. At left, a view of heavy British warships of the Mediterranean fleet is shown. Several of Britain's most powerful vessels participated in the Oran engagement, in which several French units were put out of action.

By J. W. T. MASON

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, July 9.—The French fleet at Alexandria, Egypt, has surrendered to the British guard.

The French commander at Alexandria, faced with an ultimatum demanding co-operation with Britain, has agreed to have his ships put out of service. A number of cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the French fleet are unaccounted for at present, and at right three French men-of-war are shown during a recent cruise. They are the cruiser Georges Leygues (leading) and her sister ships, the Montcalm and the Gloire. At left, a view of heavy British warships of the Mediterranean fleet is shown. Several of Britain's most powerful vessels participated in the Oran engagement, in which several French units were put out of action.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 5

ADMIRAL, LADY DOMVILLE ARE UNDER ARREST

LONDON, July 9.—The arrest of Admiral Sir Barry Domville, 62, who had close ties with Nazi Germany, was announced today. He was taken to Holloway prison by detectives who raided his home in St. John's Wood. It was reported they would be interned. The nature of the charges was not disclosed.

Sir Barry was chairman of the pro-German organization, the Link. He was arrested last Sept. 6, but it had been dissolved. He is 62 and has been on the retired list since 1934.

He went to Germany in 1937 to shoot champagne with Heinrich Himmler, head of the German state police, the Gestapo. Twice before he was Hitler's guest. He was at Salzburg the month before the war.

Admiral Domville, who was knighted in 1934, entered the Royal Navy in 1902 and commanded various ships in the first Great War.

He has held several high posts, including president of the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, and commander of the 3rd cruiser squadron, the Mediterranean fleet.

He is also former director of naval intelligence division.

He was promoted to admiral and placed on the retired list in 1936.

The arrests were made by Scotland Yard agents on warrants granted under the defence regulations.

Registration To Be Finished By End Of August

OTTAWA, July 9.—National registration of Canadian men and women is expected to be completed by the end of August, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons today.

As minister-designate of the proposed new department of national service, Mr. Gardiner was replying to a question from Conservative Leader Hanson.

Mr. Gardiner said the registration methods would mean that House of Commons members would be in charge of the registration and will have the task of appointing registrars and deputy registrars.

BRITONS DARE ITALY NAVY TO PUT UP FIGHT

Heavy Losses Inflicted On Italian Ships, Planes During Month

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 9.—During the Italian fleet to "come out and fight," British sources reported Monday that in less than a month of operations in the Mediterranean and North Africa, their land, sea and air forces have:

1.—Sunk the 1,073-ton destroyer Eridanio.

2.—Damaged or disabled more than 10-15th of Italy's total submarine power, with at least 15 submarines sunk.

3.—Sunk numerous supply ships and smaller craft in raids at Tobruk and Bardia.

4.—Smashed a safe passage through Italy's chain of submarines which attempted to blockade the Mediterranean from the southern tip of Italy to Tripoli.

5.—Shot down nearly 100 Italian planes over Libya, Eritrea and Ethiopia.

6.—Bombed the Libyan coast from the air and shelled it from the sea.

7.—Taken nearly 1,000 prisoners in desert drives against Italian border outposts in North and East Africa, seizing more than 100 anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, several tanks, several field headquarters.

Continued on Page 2, Col. 5

SERGT. KNOX OF EDSON DIES WHILE OVERSEAS

OTTAWA, July 9.—Death of four more members of the Canadian Active Service Force overseas, bringing the total to date to 39, was reported today by the national defence department in its eighth casualty list.

They were Staff-Sergeant J. F. Bailey, Cpl. W. L. Thompson and Pte. L. H. Sword all of Toronto, and Staff Quartermaster Sergeant R. T. Knox, Edson.

Two who were reported missing in previous lists, were said to be safe and sound, and two more were reported as seriously ill and two as wounded accidentally. Total missing to date now is eight.

The following are included in the latest list of dead, previously reported missing, injured and ill, with regimental number, next of kin (no dates available):

Dead: Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Staff Q.M.S. R. T. Knox, B-4646. Robert Knox (father), Edson.

Previously reported missing and now in hospital in England: Royal Canadian Artillery, L. Sgt. M. E. Jacobs, P-9555. Oscar Jacobs (father), Sylvestre Lake, Alta.

Seriously ill: Infantry, Pte. J. Leberman, M-1574. Mrs. Zena Leberman (mother) 10430 93 street, Edmonton.

Twelve Arrested

SAGRIER, Yugoslavia, July 9.—Twelve persons were arrested today as the result of a demonstration last night in which a crowd, cheering and shouting, hurled stones through windows of the British consulate.

Canadian 1st Division Now Under Training For Special Assignment

By EDWIN JOHNSON

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 9.—Watching men of the Canadian Active Service Force deploy rapidly over a section of the home front, Maj.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaul, general officer commanding the Canadian 1st Division, told a party of Canadian newspapermen today that the constant movement we are trying to leave the enemy in doubt that will be paid for in valuable lives.

The general said he wished to pay tribute to forces outside the military set-up, declaring "they are a decisive force inside the citadel who are simplifying procedure and are facing up to facts."

Once the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is no use basing our plans on wishful thinking."

He referred to the stepped-up mobility of a modern striking force compared with the slower moving armies of the past. He said the enemy probably could put thousands of men on a coast "quicker than we could meet them," but through superior mobility and speedier concentration, "we have a better chance of repelling an invasion."

One of the democratic countries "get under way they will be much more formidable and effective in prosecuting the war than the autocracies," he said. "That is where our hope lies. We have resources far greater than the dictatorships. The only thing is that we have not reached the stage of applying them to the fullest."

Modern armies are not much good

without the necessary instruments of war, he said, because "you can't put bare breasts against bayonet points."

Tactics of improvement are going on day by day, and "we are constantly on the alert," he said, adding the warning that "There is

GERMANY, ITALY WILL CONSIDER HUNGARY CLAIM

Peaceful Settlement Of Dispute With Rumania May Be Outcome Meet

BUDAPEST, July 9.—Hungary's government leaders were called to Berlin today to discuss settlement of their country's claims on Rumania with the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Hungarian Premier Count Paul Tisla and Foreign Minister Istvan Csaky were expected also to confer with Hitler during their stay in the Berlin capital. Informal sources said they would leave for Berlin this afternoon.

It was learned that a Hungarian note was sent to Germany several days ago, setting forth Hungary's minimum demands for return from Rumania of Transylvania.

Von Ribbentrop and Ciano, who conferred with Hitler in Berlin Sunday and are scheduled to see him again this week, were said to have been studying the note and the Hungarian ministers were expected to discuss the whole question with him.

PREPARED TO SETTLE

Hungary, it is understood here, is willing to settle peacefully with Rumania for less than the original borders of Transylvania. Just as Rumania in the last war settlement. The Hungarian leaders were expected to make a personal appeal for aid support regarding Hungary's claims on the Rumanian province of Transylvania.

It was assumed here the visit was at Berlin's invitation and that it meant Hungary's desire of regaining at least part of Transylvania was better than at any time since the last territory after the last war.

The Hungarian army is on a complete war footing and apparently the Hungarian government is determined that it must remain on the bank until her claims on Transylvania are satisfied in one way or another.

It was admitted there is a possibility Hitler and Ciano may ask Hungary to remain neutral during the time being—in the case of Bulgaria's claim on southern Dobruja. Although Hungary directly involves Magyar prestige.

No Justification For Territory Demands

RICHMOND, July 9.—Rumanian government quarters here today that Rumania does not recognize any justification for territorial demands and is resolved not to accept them.

The statement was made at Hungarian Premier Paul Tisla and Foreign Minister Stephen Csaky left Budapest for Berlin to discuss Hungary's claims to the Rumanian province of Transylvania with the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, and possibly with Adolf Hitler.

Official quarters here said Rumania would consider only the exclusion of Rumania as a means of settling Hungary's territorial claims.

"Such an exchange of territory would be a satisfactory result for two nations, with good economic consequences and the establishment of good neighborly relations," these sources said.

Soviet Black Sea Fleet Manoeuvres Off Bulgaria Port

LONDON, July 9.—Reuters news agency in a Bucharest dispatch today said the Russian Black Sea fleet was reliably reported to be manoeuvring off the Bulgarian port of Varna.

It is thought possible that Russia on the eve of making demands for cessation of the Dobruja to Bulgaria," the dispatch said.

The Dobruja is one of the territories which Russia has demanded in the settlement after the first great war.

Weather

LOCAL FORECAST
FAIR AND MOISTLY WARM
1. Night temperature above.
2. Wind, light to moderate, shifting.
3. Clouds, 5 to 10.
4. Precipitation, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
5. Humidity, 60 to 70 per cent.
6. Wind, 10 to 20 m.p.h.
7. Sea, 1 to 2 ft.
8. Visibility, 10 to 15 miles.
9. Fog, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
10. Ice, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
11. Snow, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
12. Hail, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
13. Thunder, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
14. Lightning, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
15. Tornado, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
16. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
17. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
18. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
19. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
20. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
21. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
22. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
23. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
24. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
25. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
26. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
27. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
28. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
29. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
30. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
31. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
32. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
33. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
34. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
35. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
36. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
37. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
38. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
39. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
40. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
41. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
42. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
43. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
44. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
45. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
46. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
47. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
48. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
49. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
50. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
51. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
52. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
53. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
54. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
55. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
56. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
57. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
58. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
59. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
60. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
61. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
62. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
63. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
64. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
65. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
66. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
67. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
68. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
69. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
70. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
71. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
72. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
73. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
74. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
75. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
76. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
77. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
78. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
79. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
80. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
81. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
82. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
83. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
84. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
85. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
86. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
87. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
88. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
89. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
90. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
91. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
92. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
93. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
94. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
95. Typhoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
96. Monsoon, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
97. Squall, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
98. Gale, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
99. Storm, 0.00 to 0.10 in.
100. Hurricane, 0.00 to 0.10 in.

Death Penalty For Treason In Canada Provided By Bill

OTTAWA, July 9.—The House of Commons Monday gave first reading to a bill which would impose the death penalty for certain treasonable acts.

Enacted "an act respecting treason," the bill embodies recommendations of the special committee of the house on the defence of Canada. It provides stiff penalties for certain war offences. There was no discussion.

GERMAN AIR RAIDERS ACTIVE OVER BRITAIN

Continued from Page One.

morning and caused a few casualties in a Scottish town but did no damage as a result.

Starting at dawn yesterday, German planes were arriving continuously up to the early hours of this morning when they started dropping 20 incendiary bombs on a southern coastal town. Others crashed in the suburbs. Others crashed in the eastern and southern coasts of England and the northeast coast of Scotland. Some damage was done to buildings, but the air ministry and home security ministry said there were very few casualties.

Tens of thousands watched fights between German raiding planes, which had been escorted by fighters, and swift Royal Air Force fighters. British fighter planes, which were sent out to intercept the German raiders, were forced to drive them back. At one time yesterday 26 planes were seen fighting over the channel.

These planes which succeeded in getting inland were pursued by fighters. German planes were seen dropping incendiary bombs on the buildings of cities, with anti-aircraft guns firing from the ground. Some of their motors and glided silently, without warning, over their targets.

RAID ON BRITAIN

Royal Air Force planes struck heavy blows in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France.

New divisions, totalling 180,000 men and more, which had been evacuated from Flanders were reformed to take their part, along with the rest of the army, in meeting a German invasion.

It was made known that 1,000,000 men and more, which had been evacuated from Flanders were reformed to take their part, along with the rest of the army, in meeting a German invasion.

It was made known that 1,000,000 men and more, which had been evacuated from Flanders were reformed to take their part, along with the rest of the army, in meeting a German invasion.

Today's War Moves

Continued from Page One.

voluntarily instability due to the volatile and emotional character of the French people, resulting in continual changes of ministries.

The new constitution, as far as its provisions are yet known, will be more like the American, with the executive department not dependent on the legislature. At the same time there are indications that the present French military regime will be replaced by a civilian government.

The movement is pro-totalitarian in principle and under the present chaotic conditions a French politician might work for the time being. But to have permanent validity, it would need to be based on a relationship of power, which would be employed, with the difference that in the present case the law would be carried out by force.

Prime Minister King said last night in a statement that mobilization would not await national registration, so some system similar to that used in the United States would be employed, with the difference that in the present case the law would be carried out by force.

There will be no exemption from military service on the basis of age, sex, or social position, and all those who are fit for service are liable for mobilization.

National defence officials expect the mobilization of the home defence forces will be under way early next week. Public works and other activities will be given several weeks training in camps before the war begins.

PETAIN TOO OLD

Marshall Petain, 84, is the old for the role. General Weygand has not the ability. There is no other known French general capable of such an attempt. None of the French politicians has sufficient following or popularity to make him a dictator. The government of France under the new constitution, which will be established in the near future, will be a republic. The present French military regime will be replaced by a civilian government.

The present clique in control of the French government is sympathetic toward Germany. The Nazi and Fascist forms of government which will be reflected in the new constitution. But, any basic imitation of German and Italian administrative methods will be given up on France at the last.

After peace has come and France will be given the right to choose her own government. The French people will settle their own governmental destiny themselves. It is necessary that it be done by a revolution. France's recurrent war in the past hundred and fifty years of returning to democracy.

F. A. Chaffey Dies

SYDNEY, Australia, July 9.—Frank A. Chaffey, 33, former chief secretary of New South Wales, died Monday.

MR. JUSTICE T. C. DAVIS

MAJ.-GEN. L. R. LAFLECHE

Named Joint Deputy Ministers

Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, former military attaché at the Canadian Legation in France, and Mr. Justice T. C. Davis of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, have been named joint deputy ministers of the new department of national war services under the Hon. James G. Gardiner.

REGISTRATION OF CANADIANS TO BE SPEEDED

Continued from Page One.

asking them to name a justice to act in a supervisory capacity for the registration within the area and over the distribution of manpower after the registration is completed.

The facilities of both the Dominion Bureau of Statistics which compile the voter lists for Dominion elections will be utilized in the registration.

Registration in each constituency will be under the direction of a registrar and a deputy registrar, and the whole time of having himself appointed before the end of the present week. Forms for the registration are now being printed.

Canadians will have to present themselves before an official registration. No house-to-house canvass will be made as was done in the taking of the census.

Public notices of the registration will be provided for by the government. The registration will be provided for by the government. The registration will be provided for by the government.

35,000 - TON BATTLESHIP IS DAMAGED

Continued from Page One.

Commander R. H. Bristowe was sent into the harbor with depth charges. With great daring the boat passed a bomb defence and went alongside the port quarter of the Richelieu where it dropped depth charges near the stern in order to damage the propellers and steering gear.

The government, Alexander emphasized, was determined that the warship must not fall into German hands.

The boat which dropped the depth charges, Alexander said, was the HMS. The ship was damaged, but the main attack entrusted to aircraft of the fleet air arm took place afterwards.

It was said that aircraft hit the Richelieu with a number of torpedoes and heard five explosions. The Richelieu was damaged, but the main attack entrusted to aircraft of the fleet air arm took place afterwards.

SAFETY MEASURES TAKEN AGAINST HIGH EXPLOSIVES

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—A new safety measure was taken today as reports circulated in shipping circles that an additional 10,000,000 pounds of high explosives for Great Britain were en route here.

Captain J. L. Allen of the coast guard, newly-named captain of the port under an emergency presidential decree, said all explosives would have to be loaded at an authorized place, and that the Mississippi river from the city proper.

A shipment of 8,000,000 pounds of TNT released from the government arsenal at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, passed through the great security more than a week ago, and was shipped to Britain. Subsequently, the shipment was transferred from port docks.

FORMER FRENCH PREMIER REYNAUD ATTENDS SESSION

VICHY, France, July 9.—Former Premier Paul Reynaud, his head wrapped in bandages, made his first appearance in public today since an automobile accident in which he was injured June 28 near Menton.

Reynaud was among those attending the session of the Chamber of Deputies to approve a new constitution.

Reynaud was among those attending the session of the Chamber of Deputies to approve a new constitution.

Plan Given Study

OTTAWA, July 9.—Consideration will be given to a plan for a new overseas. Finance Minister J. L. Flavelley today a questionnaire in the House of Commons last night.

Cabinet Aware Of Urgency Of Wheat Situation

OTTAWA, July 9.—The cabinet is "quite aware of the urgency of the wheat situation," said the Hon. MacKinnon, trade minister, said last night in reply to a question asked in the House of Commons regarding price and exchange operations for the next crop year.

The minister said representations had been received from wheat growers and against closing the futures market for duration of the war.

BRITONS DARE ITALY NAVY TO PUT UP FIGHT

Continued from Page One.

British air raids on Sicily were described as "a challenge to try and attack our bases."

The British sailors were described as eager to get at the Italian fleet, but having a hard time finding it. The British sailors were described as eager to get at the Italian fleet, but having a hard time finding it.

Italian Navy In War Mood, Seeks Glory

LONDON, July 9.—Informed sources asserted today that a desire of the Italian navy to achieve glory comparable to that gained by Italy's army and air force in Ethiopia and Spain was a factor in Italian entrance into the war.

They said the navy had shown a definitely "pre-war" attitude for some time.

These sources said they believed Italy would be unable "at present" to replace submarines at the rate required to meet the demands of the war. They estimated 60 per cent of all Italian naval personnel had been sent to the front.

These sources said they believed Italy would be unable "at present" to replace submarines at the rate required to meet the demands of the war. They estimated 60 per cent of all Italian naval personnel had been sent to the front.

NEW MINISTRY IN NOVA SCOTIA UNDER M'MILLAN

HALIFAX, July 9.—A new government will take office in Nova Scotia within the next two days under Hon. A. S. MacMillan, veteran of 20 years of provincial politics and minister of highways and public works.

The 69-year-old cabinet member was named last night to succeed to the leadership relinquished by Premier Angus L. Macdonald when he left Ottawa to take up the new federal portfolio of defence minister for naval affairs. He is expected to take up the premiership tomorrow.

Member Suggests Divorced Men Be Mobilized First

OTTAWA, July 9.—Always a vocal member of Senate divorce bills as they go through the commons, J. P. Pouliot (Lib. Term.) suggested today that divorced men should be conscripted first and all divorced women should be exempted from military service.

As the House of Commons gave a second reading to 30 Quebec divorce bills, Mr. Pouliot complained that members were "making fools of ourselves" in opposing such action.

He was arrested on charges of failure to register under the War Measures Act.

Referring to documents seized from him, Head said he felt General Pouliot was a "fool" and a "liar" and that he was "a danger to the country."

Nazi Official Is Ordered Arrested At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—United States Commissioner David Head today ordered the arrest of a Nazi official, Hans Dietrich, who was in the city on a visit to the German consulate.

BOARD PERMITS NOW NEEDED FOR U.S. VISIT

Currency Release Certificates Must Be Carried By Travellers

OTTAWA, July 9.—Travellers to the United States must hereafter carry with them a permit authorizing the money they carry with them—of whatever amount and whether in Canadian currency or not—has been released by the Foreign Exchange Control Board for the purposes of their journeys.

The board today revised its previous regulation, which permitted travellers to carry with them as much as $100, to provide that forms must be obtained covering the release of the money.

LLOYD GEORGE NOW EXPECTED JOIN CABINET

Continued from Page One.

of the voters questioned wanted Lloyd George to join the cabinet. It was reported that Chamberlain had several times offered to resign his post, but Lloyd George had refused to let him do so.

Chamberlain still a leader of the Conservative party and his resignation would force Churchill to take over the leadership in addition to the old duties. More than 100 in the House of Commons in parliament are loyal to Chamberlain and many have not forgotten an election in which he was defeated by Churchill frequently rebelled against party policy. Also there was a growing fear of a split in the Conservative cabinet after Lloyd George's resignation.

It was reported that Chamberlain had several times offered to resign his post, but Lloyd George had refused to let him do so.

ENEMY ALIENS SAID CROWDING REFUGEE SHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Stephen Early, President Roosevelt press secretary, said today that the reason British refugees are being sent to the United States in large numbers at present was attributable largely to the fact that most British ships are crowded with enemy aliens being taken to Canada.

Early made the statement to reporters when questioned about the situation of British refugees in the United States. He said that the handling of visas published in the United States newspapers.

At the time of the statement, the number of refugee children for which passage has been provided by the British government was 6,500 which United States immigration laws permit to come in from England monthly. Until the number reaches this quota, no additional children will be asked to raise the limitation.

Two Of France's Merchant Ships Arrive At Panama

PANAMA, Canal Zone, July 9.—The French merchant ships Oregon and Angouleme arrived in Balboa Roads of the Panama Canal zone tonight from Costa Rica where they were forced to leave because their officers refused to unmount their guns.

The officers said the merchant ships were armed for the purpose of defence and indicated that they had been assured refuge indefinitely in the Canal zone.

Daniel Dodge's Widow Will Get $2,500,000 Sum

PONTIAC, Mich., July 9.—Mrs. Elaine Lorraine McDougall Dodge, 54, widow of a prominent oilman, was awarded today by Judge Gore Day, Ont., before she met and married Daniel G. Dodge, heir to a vast oil fortune, a settlement of approximately $2,500,000 under a settlement of his estate disclosed yesterday.

The agreement, approved by Judge Arthur E. Moore of Ontario, will give the 52-year-old widow a lump sum of $2,500,000 and a pension of $100,000 a year provided in a pre-nuptial agreement, and the balance of the estate was controlled by the day's sales totalled $2,000,000.

Britain Maintains Martinique Patrol

PORT OF FRANCE, Martinique, July 9.—The French naval situation in this French-owned territory was reported calm tonight, with the Royal Navy maintaining a patrol of 15 miles off Martinique.

HORATIO ALGER TALE REVEALED IN RUSS ARMY

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, July 9.—The Russian newspaper, Pravda, today carried the following Horatio Alger story under a sensational headline:

The proudest citizen in all of Fermanovka yesterday was poor agricultural laborer, Elm Timoshenko, when his older brother, Sergei, who had left the village in 1914 as a private in the Tsarist army, suddenly appeared as a Generalissimo in the Red army.

NO SCUTTLING EFFORT MADE FRENCH SHIP

Authorities Deny Vessel In Halifax Endangered By Crew

OTTAWA, July 9.—Naval officials here today denied as untrue a New York report that an attempt had been made by the crew of the 20,000-ton French liner Pascal to scuttle the vessel and anchor it in Bedford Basin at Halifax.

"The story is untrue," said a terse official navy statement.

NEW RATIONING RESTRICTIONS FOR BRITONS

OTTAWA, July 9.—Great Britain introduced today new restrictions on the rationing of butter and margarine. The new restrictions will limit the ration of butter to two ounces a week, and margarine to one ounce a week. The ration of butter will be reduced from four ounces a person a week, and margarine was not rationed.

The reduction in butter and margarine allowances followed by one day a further rationing of tea, fish and meat.

At the top of its advertisement-filled front page, in a small corner devoted to highlights of the news, appeared:

"Tea supplies rationed today."

FRENCH NAVAL MISSION, ALSO MILITARY HELD

LONDON, July 9.—Members of the French military and naval mission in London today were held for repatriation. It was learned in informed quarters today.

Official sources said the mission was held for repatriation as a result of the British authorities up to the French capital are being held for repatriation.

It was explained they are in possession of much information about military and naval forces here, which Great Britain does not want to reach the Axis powers.

A return to France would place the mission members in a position where they would be forced to give up the information they have to Germany, it was said.

Calgary Stampede Has Record Crowd At Opening Monday

CALGARY, July 9.—The biggest opening day crowd in the history of the Calgary Stampede was on Monday, July 8, 42,775 persons, inaugurated the 1940 event yesterday. President J. E. Richardson announced last night.

A day's attendance eclipsed the previous high mark of 42,674 set in 1929, and was 3,308 over the same period of the last year.

Corvettes Launched At Canadian Yards

QUEBEC, July 9.—Two corvettes, built in anti-submarine warfare for the British navy, were launched today at the Canadian yards. The corvettes were built by the Canadian yards and were launched today at the Canadian yards.

Refugees Are To Be Classified Dependents In Income Tax Laws

OTTAWA, July 9.—Finance Minister J. L. Isley announced last night in the Commons that there would be an amendment to income tax regulations to meet appeals of those who believed refugee children taken into Canadian homes should be classified as dependents for whom exemption could be claimed.

The announcement was made during discussion of the resolution covering budget tax change resolutions. Details of the amendment were not given.

Mr. Isley made the announcement after receiving an ovation when he took his seat on the front benches in the commons as finance minister to pilot budget resolutions through committee of the whole.

ASKS ARMY EXEMPTIONS

He was sworn in as finance minister at noon and his first official parliamentary act in that capacity came when he replaced his predecessor, Defence Minister J. L. Ralston, as sponsor of the budget.

On the first resolution covering income tax changes G. D. Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) urged that all members of the armed services be exempt from the income and national defence tax.

J. A. Ross (Con. St. John's) said this exemption should be extended at least to non-commissioned officers and men.

Mr. Isley said the government had been guided largely by the practice in Britain where the forces were treated while resident within the Kingdom.

He was not in a position to say if any change would be made but promised to give this point careful consideration.

Conservative leader R. B. Hanson said a large group of people in the medium income group whose incomes are derived from trust funds and invested capital would have a difficult time to maintain their accustomed standard of living.

CLAIMS NON-EQUALITY
He told of one man whose immediate reaction to the increased tax was that he would have to dismiss his chauffeur. That sort of thing, if general, would mean adding greatly to the unemployed.

Some 22,000 taxpayers in the $5,000 to $15,000 salary class would have to pay to five times the present rate. That was not equality of sacrifice, said Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Isley said it was "useless for us to expect that Canadians will be able to keep up their standard of living during this war."

He had hoped people would "share sacrifices by cutting down on non-essentials. They would have to come to it sooner or later, and probably sooner," he said.

The minister told a questioner expense allowances paid "dollar a year" were not looked upon as taxable income under the act, but he would look into that phase and make a further statement.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, questioned the minister's statement that standards of living must be reduced because of war economy. Canada had enormous wealth in all resources necessary to maintain a high standard of living and there was no reason standards of living should suffer even in war time.

CALLED "DEFEATISM"
"When we talk about lowering standards of living we are talking defeat," Mr. Blackmore said. "There is no reason why standards of living should not rise right through this war." Increased production was all that was necessary to this end, coupled with efficient distribution.

Mr. Blackmore was discussing the difference between inflation and the issue of state money to produce wealth when he was called to order by the chairman who said he was going beyond the scope of the resolution.

M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rose-Town-Biggar) said he was "not impressed with arguments that certain people would have to get along with fewer domestic servants or domestic chauffeurs. He believed the income tax was a fair method of raising revenue but he believed the decrease were to be on higher salary brackets compared with lower income classes."

Mr. Coldwell opposed a suggestion earlier from Mr. Ross that a tax be placed on sugar and vegetable fats, but agreed a tax on liquor would cause no hardship but it would reduce the legal sale of liquor and possibly defeat its purpose.

The committee rose at 11 o'clock without progress.

War Certificates To Be Issued To Specific Groups

OTTAWA, July 9.—In response to requests by a number of patriotic groups in Canada, the War Savings Committee of the Bank of Canada last night announced a broadening of regulations covering issue of war savings certificates whereby certificates will be issued to certain specific groups wishing to act in a patriotic way. Previously certificates have been issued only to individuals.

Incorporated or unincorporated bodies organized for the purpose of carrying on objects of national, municipal, patriotic, religious, educational, charitable, professional, social or sporting activities "without pecuniary gain to their members" will be allowed to purchase not more than $500 worth of certificates.

Britons Stranded In South France

LONDON, July 9.—Nearly 500 British men, women and children were reported stranded last night in the South of France. Efforts to communicate with them through wireless, telegraph and Red Cross failed and it was believed they would be of a similar nature by other residents.

Labor Raises Its Voices At Philadelphia

C.I.O. President John L. Lewis, left, laughs heartily after telling the Republican resolutions committee in Philadelphia that President Roosevelt's compulsory universal service plan is "fantastic." Other photo shows William Green, left, leading an ear to a whispered word from A. F. of L. President William Green. Both labor leaders addressed the platform drafters.

Unarmed British Housewife R.A.F. BOMBERS CAUSE DAMAGE IN ETHIOPIA Captures German Airmen

LONDON, July 9.—An unarmed British housewife put on her "fiercest frown" yesterday and captured a German aviator who parachuted from his disabled plane into her front yard and gave up his pistol when she demanded his surrender.

His plane was shot down by British Spitfires in a fight over north-eastern England.

Mrs. Nora Cardwell's husband, away from home at the time, said: "I think she did very well."

DEMANDED HIS GUN
But Mrs. Cardwell, five feet eight inches tall, didn't want to make a "sona and dance" over what she called "the affair."

She just marched up to the German, demanded his gun and gave him the 24-hour period under review, and much valuable data was obtained.

"Bombing aircraft raided Diredawa and scored direct hits on railway workshops. Enemy fighters attempted to intercept without success."

IMPACT HEAVY DAMAGE
An important enemy base at Zula was attacked by our bombers and direct hits were obtained on a jetty and on stores. Two fire started, accompanied by much black smoke. One enemy aircraft was engaged and shot down into the sea. At Mawaza, direct hits were registered on camp buildings, causing considerable damage.

"Two air raids on Malta—the evening of July 7 and the other yesterday afternoon—were entirely unsuccessful as a result of interception by our fighters. No bombs were dropped."

The stirring of a new drink with the feast of a monster's tail, has during the American Revolution, gave the "cocktail" its name.

KEPT HIM FOR POLICE
She got it. After that she marched him off to await the police.

When the excitement died down—and that was after quite a while—Mrs. Cardwell got tired of answering questions and summed up: "I merely had a job to do, and did it to the best of my ability."

EVEN MRS. F.R. STILL IN DARK ON THIRD TERM

NEW YORK, July 9.—President Roosevelt and Postmaster-General James A. Farley have a big secret they're keeping from the president's wife.

It's that third term business. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told interviewers yesterday she is "still in the dark" regarding the president's third-term intentions, which he confided to Farley yesterday.

NAZIS ATTEMPT CRUSH FREEDOM IN NETHERLANDS

LONDON, July 9.—More evidence of German determination to crush freedom in every country they occupy and the means they are adopting to do so has reached England, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported last night.

It said the Nazi-controlled wireless of the Netherlands has been threatening the Netherlands who assist the Royal Air Force. The Nazi wireless said British raids could not be defended unless there had been help from within the country.

The German-controlled wireless in Brussels, the B.B.C. said, disclosed that Belgians too are struggling under the German yoke and have been damaging telephone and telegraph wires.

Once again the Germans threaten severe punishment and say they will penalize the inhabitants of the entire district where sabotage occurs if they cannot find the persons responsible.

Foreign Exchange Ruling Published To Cut Purchases

OTTAWA, July 9.—An amendment to the foreign exchange control board regulations, published last night, reduced from $100 to $50 the limit on foreign exchange that can be purchased without a license in the form of postal notes, money orders, cheques (excluding travellers' cheques) or other items of a similar nature by other residents.

R.A.F. BOMBERS CAUSE DAMAGE IN ETHIOPIA

Direct Hits On Railway Shops, Jetty and Stores During Raids

CAIRO, July 9.—British bombing planes have raided the Ethiopian railway town of Diredawa and scored direct hits on railway workshops. The Royal Air Force announced today: Diredawa is on the Jibuti-Addis Ababa railway, running from the African east coast to the capital of Italian Ethiopia.

Today's Royal Air Force communiqué said: "Numerous reconnaissance flights were carried out in the course of the 24-hour period under review, and much valuable data was obtained."

"Bombing aircraft raided Diredawa and scored direct hits on railway workshops. Enemy fighters attempted to intercept without success."

IMPACT HEAVY DAMAGE
An important enemy base at Zula was attacked by our bombers and direct hits were obtained on a jetty and on stores. Two fire started, accompanied by much black smoke. One enemy aircraft was engaged and shot down into the sea. At Mawaza, direct hits were registered on camp buildings, causing considerable damage.

"Two air raids on Malta—the evening of July 7 and the other yesterday afternoon—were entirely unsuccessful as a result of interception by our fighters. No bombs were dropped."

The stirring of a new drink with the feast of a monster's tail, has during the American Revolution, gave the "cocktail" its name.

KEPT HIM FOR POLICE
She got it. After that she marched him off to await the police.

When the excitement died down—and that was after quite a while—Mrs. Cardwell got tired of answering questions and summed up: "I merely had a job to do, and did it to the best of my ability."

AMERICAN PHOTO REFUTES CLAIM MADE BY NAZIS

NEW YORK, July 9.—The New York Daily News today published a photograph of the British aircraft carrier Illustrious with a caption saying it had been taken by an amateur photographer on a United States liner in a Bermuda harbor a day after the Germans claimed it was struck in battle.

The Illustrious is one of the six new aircraft carriers that Britain laid down in recent years. She was launched in 1939 as were her sister ships Victorious, Formidable and Indomitable. The two others in the class are the Implacable and Intrepid.

Except that these craft are of 23,000 tons and are 735 feet long, the public knows nothing of them. Jane's Fighting Ships publishes no data. It is not known how many of the six are actually in service.

The layman only has a pretty shrewd idea that these craft are the finest aircraft carriers ever built.

"Joking" Remark Over War Costs Woman $25 Fine

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., July 9.—A "joking" remark made in a restaurant here cost Mrs. Marie Douls $25 and costs when she was found guilty in police court yesterday under the Defence of Canada regulations of making statements prejudicial to recruiting.

"You have been a very foolish young woman even to make a joking," said Magistrate N. L. Edmonds. "This matter is too serious for jokes, and I'm going to stop it."

British Children Enter As Aliens

NEW YORK, July 9.—The British children coming to the United States are entering on British passports as aliens, under the regular immigration quota for Great Britain of 6,500 persons a month.

The children can stay indefinitely, and when they reach 21 will be eligible to seek American citizenship by the usual procedure.

National Campaign To Strengthen Morale Is Launched In Britain

LONDON, Eng., July 9.—A national campaign for strengthening morale has been launched throughout Great Britain by the forces of Moral Re-Armament, with the full co-operation of the civil and home defense authorities in many centres.

A leaflet entitled "Morale—How to Play Your Part" has already been issued by the Lord Mayor of York, Sheffield, Hull and Nottingham, for distribution to every home, and the authorities throughout Britain are preparing to follow this lead.

In opening the first civic assembly of the campaign, the Lord Mayor of York said: "If the morale of the people is maintained and strengthened, as Morale Re-Armament is doing, it will bring about an early completion of the war."

ADMIRAL SPEAKS
Chief speakers included an address from Lord Mayor of York, General Peter Winsor, a major from the B.E.F., mill girls and mill owners, and the Deputy Lord Mayor of Newcastle.

The leaflet, which is given house-to-house distribution, calls to the people of Great Britain to "Forget yourself in helping your neighbors. In days of tension this aids you, your own and your neighbor. Help them to carry out all instructions about air raids, evacuation, rationing, and so on."

"Keep the moral standards of the nation high. Don't weaken the home front by trying to waste something for yourself on the quiet. Make a break with all personal indulgence, selfishness and pride wars, which undermine national morale and unity. Everybody has his part to play in the moral re-arming of the nation."

"Be a rumor-stopper. Those who love their country sacrifice the luxury of being the ones to pass on the 'news.' Any patriot shoots a rumor dead on sight. Face the facts but don't exaggerate them. Prepare to meet them instead. Faith, confidence and cheerfulness are as contagious as fear, depression and grumbling."

LISTEN TO GOD
"The secret of steadiness and inner strength is to listen to God and do what He says. God speaks to the heart of every man and woman who is willing to listen and obey. Write down the thoughts He gives you. His voice can be heard wherever you are—in home, factory, in an air-raid shelter, in a first-aid post."

"Forearm yourself by listening to God the first thing every morning. In the listening, God takes away fear and the power to work with other people in complete unity. In the listening, God takes away fear and fortifies against uncertainty, hardship or bereavement. He gives strength and courage. He offers limitless reserves of energy and initiative."

"A British General who has fought through two wars says: 'Wires may be cut and wireless may be destroyed, but the message from God coming through, if we are willing to receive them. To listen to God and obey Him is the most national service for everybody, everywhere.'"

"Hang this up in your home."

Issued by: The Lord Mayor of York, The Lord Mayor of Sheffield, The Lord Mayor of Hull, The Lord Mayor of Nottingham.

Toronto Flier Is Given Decoration

LONDON, July 9.—Announcement was made last night that the distinguished flier medal has been awarded to Leading Aircraftman George William Whitehead of Toronto for outstanding accomplishments with the Royal Air Force over a period of time.

HUGE INCOME SETS RECORD IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, July 9.—Australian revenue for the year ending June 30 reached a record of nearly 112,000,000 ($300,000,000), much above the budget estimate owing to swollen imports for war purposes.

There was a surplus of nearly 25,000,000 in the year, and an expenditure of 153,000,000, of which 124,250,000 was raised from the revenue and the remainder from loans.

Subscriptions to interest free war loans total nearly 4,500,000. War gifts to the treasury are now beginning and include family heirlooms and jewelry worth 137,000.

There are now many Australian Imperial Force men in camps throughout Australia and the government is shortly to call up for compulsory training for home defense some 60,000 militiamen between the ages of 20 and 31. Some 30,000 older volunteers will undergo three months' training.

U.S. COWBOY WINS TOP DAY RIDING MONEY

Montana Puncher Tossed Over Fence In Wild Ride At Stampede

CALGARY, July 9.—Touring the city infilled at Victoria park on a twisting, snorting bronk named Hat Rack, and then taking a flying dive over the eight-foot fence as the high-kicking bronk collided with the stands, Turk Greenough, veteran cowpuncher from Red Lodge, Mont., won top day money in the premier event of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, the North American bucking contest, as the annual rodeo got away to an auspicious start before 10,000 persons Monday.

Greenough, shaken up by the jolting ride and the pitch over the fence, noted out Nick Knight, Cody, Wyo., and Doug Bruce, Black Diamond, by a single point to win the top day money of $80. Bruce, a coming puncher, who first won fame several years ago in his home town, and Knight split second and third money, with Jack Wade of Hanksville, Utah.

It was a day of spills under a hot summer sun, with steers and bronks alike proving too much for many a cowboy, several cowboys were injured, but only one required hospital attention.

It was Gordon Yellowfoot, 19, Blackfoot Indian from Gleichen, who fractured his ankle when thrown by a wild steer.

A. K. Lund, Milk River veteran, placed first in the day's Canadian bucking horse riding with saddle, with Joe Keeler of Baintree second.

France Duce, Cardston, took top honors in bareback bucking, with riding, while Cliff Vandergriff, Turner Valley, and Wade split first and second money in wild steer riding. Earl Mayfield, 15, Gleichen Indian, scored first in boys' wild steer riding.

Alberta ropers generally showed superiority over Americans, taking all four places in the North American roping. Burton Clarehoun, took top day money of $100 with time of 23 1-3 seconds. D. R. Forsyth, Cardston, was second in 24 2-3 seconds, and Toots Burton, brother of Ed., and George Leask, Madden, third and fourth.

ADDRESSES TO RIDEAU HALL ARE CLARIFIED

OTTAWA, July 9.—Throughout the Dominion there is considerable uncertainty regarding correct titular designations for the new Governor-General and his consort. This is understandable because the position is unusual in Canada.

The Earl of Athlone is correctly referred to as "the Governor-General" and at second reference may be styled "His Excellency." The form "His Excellency the Governor-General" is rarely used, the term "Governor-General" being considered more dignified.

Princess Alice, as daughter of Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, and fourth son of Queen Victoria, retains her royal title. She should never be referred to as "her Excellency," but invariably as "her Royal Highness." Shorter and more usual form of address and reference is simply "Princess Alice."

The expression "her Excellency" is incorrect and never used in this regime. The Governor-General and Princess Alice, when mentioned together, should be referred to as "His Excellency and her Royal Highness."

Princess Alice should never be referred to as the "Countess of Athlone," but the title "Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone," is correct and this may be shortened to "Princess Alice." The designation "her Royal Highness, Princess Alice," is rarely used.

When the Governor-General is referred to by name he should be designated "The Earl of Athlone" and it may be added slightly more formal by adding K.G. Other letters need only be added when the most formal designation is required. In this case the Governor-General's full titles are: Major-General, The Right Honourable the Earl of Athlone, K.G., P.C., G.C.B., G.M.M.G., G.C.V.O., D.S.O., F.R.S., A.D.C.

Brother Of Air Minister Power Dies At Quebec

QUEBEC, July 9.—W. Gerard Power, 58, former member of the Quebec legislative council and a brother of Air Minister C. G. Power, died last night from injuries suffered last Tuesday in an automobile accident here.

He was born at nearby Silvery in 1882, member of a family prominent in Quebec and dominion politics. His father, William Power, was a political disciple of Sir John A. Macdonald and for many years in the Canadian House of Commons, while a second brother, Joseph, was long a member of Quebec's legislative assembly.

In days of peace, sometimes, the Navy makes a public demonstration of its might. But when war comes, the ships are swallowed by the vast horizons of the Seven Seas over which they keep unending vigil...

Through peace and war Player's Cigarettes also are true to their proud tradition of leadership. Whether you prefer "Mild" or "Medium", you will find that every Player's cigarette lives up to the motto:

Player's Please

MEDIUM OR MILD

- MILD—plain end "wetproof" paper
- MEDIUM—cork tip or plain.

"IT'S THE TOBACCO THAT COUNTS"

Published every afternoon except Sunday by the Alberta Free Press, Limited, at The Bulletin Building, 9641 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.
CHARLES E. CAMPBELL,
Owner and Publisher.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or to The Associated Press in this paper and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

TUESDAY, JULY 9, 1940.

It Was The Only Course

How important it was to prevent the Axis powers getting possession of the great French fleet must be fairly clear to every person who understands at all the extent to which the outcome of this war and the fate of the world hinge upon command of the sea. Rear Admiral Stirling of the U. S. navy tells in a few sentences how greatly important this was to the United States, and to every other country in North and South America. He says:

"The drastic British action against the French fleet means that the Americas can still depend on the British navy as a bulwark of defence in the Atlantic. It means that the Americas have a little more time to prepare their defences. The French fleet with the Italian would have given the Axis a navy almost equal to the British, one capable of great destruction. . . In my opinion no American naval officer was surprised at what happened at Oran or Alexandria."

This is expert testimony from a high naval officer of a country not engaged in the war that what the British authorities did was exactly what they should have done in the circumstances. To have let the ships pass into enemy control would have been suicidal folly.

In The Ranks Of The Enemy

French airmen were induced or compelled to join German and Italian airmen in bombing Gibraltar. No doubt, if the Petain cabinet is sufficiently supine, all it can do by persuasion and coercion will be done to put the fighting forces of France in the service of its conquerors against Britain. Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini would much rather Frenchmen should be killed than Germans and Italians.

And some things the cabinet has done leave little doubt that it will go to any lengths to help the dictators—or avert their wrath, as the case may be. Ordering the arrest of French journalists who fled the country rather than live under Nazi rule looks as much like an act of voluntary vindictiveness as obedience to orders from Berlin. So does the silly performance of sentencing De Gaulle in absentia to four years in prison, and ordering that Vice Admiral Muselier be tried by a naval court which can't enforce its finding.

The fact has to be accepted, however unwillingly, that Petain is either the dupe of Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini or their accomplice. Which, doesn't matter for practical purposes. In either case all the French forces he can coax or dragoon into fighting the battles of the dictators will be made to do so.

Now We Know Better

The public will note with very positive satisfaction the statement of Hon. C. D. Howe that a great shell-filling plant is nearing completion in Canada, and also a large plant for the making of high explosives.

Satisfaction not unmixed with other feelings, as they recall that only three or four years ago most of us were "all steamed up" at the possibility of large munitions plants being established in the Dominion, and vigorously demanded that nothing of the kind be permitted. We were not going to have any Krupp works, or Skoda works, or Zaboroffs in this realm of everlasting and unassailable peace.

It doesn't flatter our sagacity to remember how badly we were taken in by the pretensions of Herr Hitler and his associates that they aimed at nothing more than minor adjustments of boundary lines on the other side of the world; nor our knowledge that we supposed they could not seriously disturb the peace of the nations if they tried.

But when condemnation is being pronounced upon the Allied Governments for not preparing to meet a blitzkrieg, the language should be tempered by recollection that we in Canada vociferously refused to permit munitions plants to be established here and roundly abused anyone who suggested we might some day need them.

We do need them now, and they cannot be built any too quickly or too big.

Next Week—The Fair

The Fair which is to open at the exhibition grounds on Monday next may not differ greatly from its predecessors; fairs, it is said with some truth, are much alike. But the circumstances give to the event an interest such as no Fair has had since 1915. War has once again colored the atmosphere in which we live, and invested ordinary occurrences and affairs with meaning and significance not quite the same as in times of peace.

To some it seems inappropriate, as it did in 1915, that the Fair should go on as usual in war-time. But experience then showed that war gave to this annual event an interest and a value it did not ordinarily possess. Fairs in the former war years drew bumper crowds. Certainly not because people were not deeply concerned in the tragic happenings overseas. Precisely the contrary. People thronged the grounds as one way to get temporary escape from the day and night anxiety that tortured them.

Work is better done if there is occasional relaxation, and hardship is better borne if once in a while the attention is drawn away from harrowing thoughts. So Edmonton residents and people from the surrounding country may attend the Fair next week with no misgivings that they are wasting time and money when these are of desperate national importance—as they are. The war effort will not suffer because for a few days we make holiday. Quite the opposite. The respite will be good for everyone; particularly for those who have been worrying most and working hardest.

Ankara denied Berlin's "discovery" that Britain and France planned to invade Russia with the assistance of Turkey. The official Nazi discoverer is not flattering Hitler's war machine much when he suggests the Allies wanted to take on Russia at the same time.

Premier Bracken is taking a delegation to Ottawa to urge parliament to restore the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act in Manitoba. Opposition to the restoration must be strong if this action is necessary. The demand for suspension, it will be recalled, came from farmers in the eastern provinces, who complained to their members that they could not borrow money because possible lenders were afraid while the Act was in operation in some provinces it might be extended to others. The difficulty Manitoba is having to get the Act re-applied shows how fortunate Alberta and Saskatchewan were that it was not suspended in these provinces also.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

Rev. C. A. Proenier, Methodist missionary to Edmonton, arrived on Monday's steamer. Mrs. Rowell has arrived from Leeds, Ont., to join her husband, who has been a settler here for a number of years.

D. Ross has a strawberry patch now bearing its second crop of berries.

The Fort Saskatchewan ferry scow which was carried away by the rise of water, week before last, was captured by Merrin Bros., who were mining at Sucker creek. It was tracked up to Fort Saskatchewan, over 30 miles, and is again in running order.

Forty Years Ago

London: Reports from Shanghai are that three Chinese servants of foreigners in Peking escaped. They assert that all foreigners there, 1,000 in number, including 400 soldiers, 100 members of the customs staff and a number of women and children, fought until their ammunition was exhausted in the British legation. The Chinese burned the bridge and thus cut off the retreat of the foreigners to Tientsin.

Thirty Years Ago

Victoria: Plans of the main line of the C.N.R. have been filed and approved here covering the route from Tete Jaune Cache to Port Mann. Paris: The Young Turk Government is to pension the wives of the late sultan, Abdul Hamid. Thus far, 746 of them have been located.

Twenty Years Ago

Ottawa: Sir Thomas White announced that he is not seeking the leadership of the government.

Hon. Dr. Toimie opened the Edmonton fair on Tuesday. London: Turk troops have occupied positions on the Bosphorus opposite the Allied headquarters. Their position was assailed by British warships.

Ten Years Ago

Victoria: Premier Mackenzie King announced that in future the provinces will be consulted as to the numbers and classes of immigrants admitted into Canada.

Ottawa: Canadian soldiers "burned out" before their time by war service will become eligible for pension, 60 years of age or over. It is estimated 12,000 will be eligible at once. Rome: The Italian government has informed France it is willing to take part in discussions of the project to create a United States of Europe.

A nation's military power depends upon its industries and the training of its officers.—Prof. Marston T. Boyer, Columbia University.

On The Record

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

AN UNHEARD SPEECH

Mr. Willkie stands on the Republican platform. It is very weak timber on which to stand. The good American earth is firmer.

At the convention I listened for a voice I listened for a voice which would say what my ears, just one pair of American ears, wanted to hear. If it had spoken, I think it might have said something like this:

Men and Women of the United States of America: In the greatest days of this republic to make a bid for the leadership of this nation is a tremendous responsibility. It is a responsibility that no man should lightly seek, and from which, if his soul is awake and his mind is clear, he should shrink. Half the world is watching and testing whether any nation, conceived as ours was in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal, can long endure.

If, therefore, we seek the leadership of the nation in this hour, it must be with humility, and with the utmost dedication to a gigantic task. No man is to be envied who sets his foot upon the path to the White House in these times.

Yet there will be sources of great strength behind him, if he lets them get through to him. These sources of strength are not the myriad souls that are crying out to us: "Save America! Let us listen to what they are crying out to us. They are crying, Save America—Save her for the present and for the future—Save her for the purpose for which she was born, the lifting and ennobling of man upon this earth. Preserve her and rebuild her! Keep flying the banner of the brave and the free. Make it the banner of the New World, built by the children of a world in collapse—the Old World. Show us how to use our energies and our resources, our vast untapped capital of money and goods and men, our great untapped reserves of manual and mental and spiritual energy, that we may make, and make speedily, a paradise for us upon this heartbroken earth, and a paradise that we can defend forever.

We must liberate the energies of this continent, for regeneration and for defense.

The American nature, the American tradition, the American way, is not to regiment men and resources into a rigid army commanded by party bureaucrats and uninformed Gestapos. The great American word is Freedom. But it is not our task to free our resources in order that each man may scramble for his own privilege, but to free them that each individual and each organization may realize themselves as individual players in the great symphony orchestra of a common effort.

Whoever becomes President of the United States today as a candidate of a great party must seek only to serve the whole people of this nation. The common plan is to take the land, the farmer on his farm, the youth battering vainly at the doors of opportunity, as well as the organizers of industry.

Whatever party can find the key, liberate the energies of this continent, and make it its future. Its future is inseparably linked to

Continued on Page Five

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Riveters are busy night and day in Canadian shipyards, speeding up our output of vessels for the navy and merchant service. How many of these so employed will be interested to be told that this date is a very notable one in the history of their craft, because it was on July 9, 1940, just a century ago, that John Molson launched the first iron vessel ever put to water in British America.

It was named the Prince Arthur; was not very big or speedy, but proved to the doubting Thomases of Montreal that iron will float, if you handle it properly. John Molson was already the father of the steam communication between Montreal and Quebec by his Accommodation in 1809, followed by the Swiftsure.

The iron of which the first Canadian steamer was built was all-Canadian, bought from the Radnor forges near Three Rivers, but her engines were imported from England and were the product of the celebrated James Watt. Mr. Molson and his engineer, as well as his constructive architect, having voyaged to England for instruction. The Molson family is still identified with the shipping and mercantile activities of Montreal. Indeed, a Montreal without a Molson as a business leader would seem strange indeed. And the family has also been always active in service to king and country. There was a Molson in the first independent mounted corps under the British regime at Montreal; the Molson troops did their bit in the troubles of 1837-40, and ever since, when the trumpet has called, a Molson has responded. Thus lives on the spirit of the father of steam navigation on the St. Lawrence.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

ETHIOPIAN FLAG FLIES

One of our neighbors in Jerusalem was the Abyssinian Consul, and I was glad to note that above its temple roof, it now flies the national flag—perhaps the only spot left on earth where the flag of poor Ethiopia may safely be flung to the breeze.

After all, religion is the final rampart of patriotism. The church is the ultimate hope of the nation. After all our defenses have fallen, the last of a country's life, and its prospect of deliverance lies in its spiritual faith.

Politics and business seem slow to learn this lesson. Yet America's deliverance from present troubles lies with the Christian faith, which alone has an adequate code and program.

May we keep the cross flag flying in these days of difficulty. O God; with no surrender of our faith in Thee.

Read Psalm 68:31.

Revolution In A Beehive

By J. BUTTERFIELD

PERHAPS A PARABLE

The life of the bee under modern observation has been held up to mankind as the perfection of order and the efficient state in miniature. The almost lyrical and poetic history of that insect offered by Maeterlinck in his famous "La Vie De L'abeille" has fostered that thought and the earlier but more prosaic classic of Sir John Lubbock—afterwards Lord Avebury—laid the foundation for our ineradicable admiration of hive life.

Actually, however, in spite of the honey that we have accidentally learned to gather and appreciate, the life of the bee is perhaps an outstanding example of nature at her worst. It leads nowhere, defies progress and stresses the absorption of the individual in the mass population. The bee is offered as an example of right man work, while in fact, it is the world's best illustration of communal drudgery. There is only one facet to the life of the bee, and that is work.

Whereas the life of man turns restlessly ever onward and forward to new fields of endeavor made possible by new discoveries of the potentialities of the earth and its contents, the bee alone remains unchanged throughout the ages. The most notable distinction between mankind and the bee is the way money gets into the world, where as love is the mainspring of human life, modified by hate, both are unknown to the bee.

There is no love in the hive; only efficiency and scientific breeding.

Consider the facts of this perfect colony simply stated. It is divided into three estates. Alone in her majesty, a productive prisoner, unloved but useful, sits the Queen, the sole mother of thousands. Then there are the drones, the males, who do nothing until the right moment arrives when they are to receive the honorary embrace of the Queen, an embrace that ends in the successful drone being dismembered while his unsuccessful brothers return to the hive to be slaughtered by the third estate, the worker bees. The whole thing is an unending circle of stereotyped efficiency directed by nature to the storing of honey that can never eat even were the winter twice as long. It is mass production carried out for mass production's sake. For certainly the bee, with no brain to guide it into thinking channels, and working only by unerring instinct, has no idea in its ceaseless production of storing honey for the use of mankind. The insect is so stupid that it will eat, without comment, the candied sugar that beekeepers provide for it in the winter, while he takes away the honey they have provided.

The nursing bees, taken from among the workers, are the greatest mistake in the scheme, in bringing the queen to breeding perfection by personal attention and the preparation of special forms of food for her use. These incomplete females by invariable instinct thus produce the complete female, and when the complete she climbs out of the hive to the muffled cheers of the working population and soars into the air in great circles until she attains a dizzy height. There is a stirring in the hive and the drone population is so excited that it will eat, without comment, the candied sugar that beekeepers provide for it in the winter, while he takes away the honey they have provided.

That, of course, is the moment for which they have been especially fed and pampered for many weeks by the workers until they each feel that they are fine fellows. But feeling has no place in the colony. "This is a duty," says the queen, "these are my bees, and I am a queen." As the queen rises they rise too, but such is her strength that only the strongest and most enduring among them can reach her Majesty and one wild moment marks the end of his usefulness as well as his life itself. The unsuccessful drone returns to the hive where a swift accounting awaits their failure. They are destroyed. There are no scandals in the bee family.

Once, however, there arose in a large beehive colony a drone that thought. He occupied his luxurious leisure, unlike any bee before him—or since—by going about a bit, and looking around. He was the first bee who had ever looked at life with a critical eye and what he saw disturbed him.

It is maintained by some scientists that the bee, by its quality of producing the workers who are without any of the characteristics of either parent, are giving birth to the working of evolution. That may or may not be so, but it is certain that this new drone had somehow acquired the doubtful advantage of developing the beginnings of thought. He was a real revolutionist. He was against the perfect communism of his kind and longed for individual rights.

"Boys," he said, having assembled his fellow-drones in a geranium patch while his mechanical masters were gathered round the working of evolution. "Boys, we are slaves, we have suffered from these frustrated females long enough. Not only are we compelled to lead a useless life but the end of it is a disgrace and a humiliation. When the old girl beats it for the clouds only one of us is able to make the grade, the rest return to the greater humiliation of being chucked out and killed. We shall not stand it, life is sweet and I have plan that will assure us a life until we die of natural causes. We shall be free germ-pap every day and we shall not be sacrificed on the altar of feminine competency. Are we not individuals? Have we not a right to live our own lives? Are you with me?"

"We are, indeed, with you," they buzzed. "What is the plan?"

"It is most simple," he said. "When Her Majesty leaves the house full of romantic notions we just sit tight, we defy this instinct thing and let her go—let her go up and up till she hits the stars—with never a hunter to hunt her and to the bafflement of all the proletariat." Thus we shall very much upset all their preconceived ideas and we shall continue in luxury and in the enjoyment of our fitness until they consent to a newer beemanistic method of doing things. The plan is a better and more dignified arrangement and this is the only road to its achievement."

Somewhat dubiously—for their minds were not so ripe as their leader's—the boys consented to the plan. Next day amid spectacular ceremonies and a final grooming by the nursing bees the Queen left the hive and ascended in long spirals toward heaven. She didn't know why, it was just a feeling. The working of the customary bird honey-making was scheduled to close this flight but baffled instinct made her a very nervous and restless queen bee when she

Continued on Page Seven

Side Glances—By Galbraith

"We could save a lot of money on rent if we moved to a smaller place—but puppy needs the room."

What Is Your Opinion?

This is your column in which to express your views and comment on current events and questions of the hour. Letters must be brief to ensure publication. Maximum length letters received exceed 300 words and cannot be published.

Writers are asked to restrict their comments strictly to the subject under discussion. Let us have your letter and your opinion on outstanding questions of the day. We want to know your views.—EDITOR

Use Government House

Editor, Bulletin: Don't you think that it would be a good idea to open the Government House to children from England?

This lovely mansion is going to ruin without an occupant, and the grounds would make lovely playgrounds for the children.

What Is Your Opinion?

If some charitable organization would undertake this work of preparing the house, it would not only find a home for many children, but would preserve the beauty of one of Edmonton's loveliest landmarks. BEATRICE McILLAN, 12827 122 Street.

McCoy Health Service

The patient earnestly seeking health should understand the importance of removing continued irritation from excessive gas. This irritation is produced by the pressure of the gas in various parts of the digestive tube.

Flatulence is not only present in people who consider themselves to be in poor health but is also present in many cases in those who consider their health is average. Those in the latter class generally neglect the cause of flatulence and may not go deeply enough into the subject to find out that dietetic indiscretions are the most common starting point of excessive gas.

It is true that a certain amount of air or gas is naturally present in the digestive tube at all times. It is only when gas is formed in such excessive amounts that it causes pain, discomfort or a bloated feeling, and the condition is no longer natural and that flatulence may be said to have started.

Usually the gas collects in pockets, which may induce such symptoms as a sharp, colicky pain; a sense of fullness; shortness of breath; or an uncomfortable feeling of crowding. When the gas is at the top of the stomach and is pressing against the heart, the patient may report that the heart is beating rapidly. In some cases, this is enough to scare him into thinking he is perhaps developing some form of heart disorder.

In many instances, no real heart trouble is present and as soon as the "gas attack" subsides, the heart goes back to its normal rhythm. However, in the event a heart disorder is actually present, the accumulation of gas will often tend to produce more trouble with the heart than would occur if the gas had been absent.

It is therefore important for the patient with a heart disorder to avoid eating in such a way as to produce excessive gas. The damaged heart has enough work to do to carry on, without being forced to exert itself against the crowding effect of a gas pocket.

Excessive gas in the stomach is a frequent cause to accompany the difficult breathing seen in attacks of bronchial asthma. In these cases, it is important to see that the patient follows a way of dieting which helps to prevent undue pressure against the diaphragm or breathing-muscle, produced by excessive gas.

Those readers troubled by flatulence, send for the three articles on "Excessive Gas." These articles outline a good general diet to follow and will be sent to those wishing to try the dieting method. Please send your request to The McCoy Health Service, enclosing a large, self-addressed envelope and eight cents in stamps.

Address all letters to The McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 131 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, California.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. MCKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the second of a series of six articles on when, and when not, to cover an honor with an honor.

There are two rather conflicting rules in bridge. One says that a honor with an honor and "Second hand low. There are situations in which both of these must be violated.

In today's hand, with South playing the contract at three no trump and he should hold off the first trick and win the second with the ace. Now suppose he leads the queen of diamonds from dummy. East, playing the old rule "always cover an honor with an honor" covers with the king. South will win with the ace and play a low diamond, forcing dummy's ace. Thus declarer escapes the loss of a diamond trick.

The rule on this situation is don't cover the queen when the jack is in sight and your king is adequately guarded.

♠ A Q 10 4	♠ K J 9 8
♥ A 8	♥ Q 5 3
♦ Q J 8	♦ A 7 3
♣ 10 9 3	♣ K 7 6
W N E	S
♠ 8 2	♠ J 10 9 6 2
♥ 10 4 2	♥ K 5
♦ K 8 6	♦ 10 9 3
♣ 8 6	♣ 7 5
Dealer

Rubber—Neither vul. South West North East 1st Part 1st 2nd 3rd 4th 5th 6th 7th 8th 9th 10th 11th 12th 13th 14th 15th 16th 17th 18th 19th 20th 21st 22nd 23rd 24th 25th 26th 27th 28th 29th 30th 31st 32nd 33rd 34th 35th 36th 37th 38th 39th 40th 41st 42nd 43rd 44th 45th 46th 47th 48th 49th 50th 51st 52nd 53rd 54th 55th 56th 57th 58th 59th 60th 61st 62nd 63rd 64th 65th 66th 67th 68th 69th 70th 71st 72nd 73rd 74th 75th 76th 77th 78th 79th 80th 81st 82nd 83rd 84th 85th 86th 87th 88th 89th 90th 91st 92nd 93rd 94th 95th 96th 97th 98th 99th 100th 101st 102nd 103rd 104th 105th 106th 107th 108th 109th 110th 111th 112th 113th 114th 115th 116th 117th 118th 119th 120th 121st 122nd 123rd 124th 125th 126th 127th 128th 129th 130th 131st 132nd 133rd 134th 135th 136th 137th 138th 139th 140th 141st 142nd 143rd 144th 145th 146th 147th 148th 149th 150th 151st 152nd 153rd 154th 155th 156th 157th 158th 159th 160th 161st 162nd 163rd 164th 165th 166th 167th 168th 169th 170th 171st 172nd 173rd 174th 175th 176th 177th 178th 179th 180th 181st 182nd 183rd 184th 185th 186th 187th 188th 189th 190th 191st 192nd 193rd 194th 195th 196th 197th 198th 199th 200th 201st 202nd 203rd 204th 205th 206th 207th 208th 209th 210th 211st 212th 213th 214th 215th 216th 217th 218th 219th 220th 221st 222nd 223rd 224th 225th 226th 227th 228th 229th 230th 231st 232nd 233rd 234th 235th 236th 237th 238th 239th 240th 241st 242nd 243rd 244th 245th 246th 247th 248th 249th 250th 251st 252nd 253rd 254th 255th 256th 257th 258th 259th 260th 261st 262nd 263rd 264th 265th 266th 267th 268th 269th 270th 271st 272nd 273rd 274th 275th 276th 277th 278th 279th 280th 281st 282nd 283rd 284th 285th 286th 287th 288th 289th 290th 291st 292nd 293rd 294th 295th 296th 297th 298th 299th 300th 301st 302nd 303rd 304th 305th 306th 307th 308th 309th 310th 311st 312th 313th 314th 315th 316th 317th 318th 319th 320th 321st 322nd 323rd 324th 325th 326th 327th 328th 329th 330th 331st 332nd 333rd 334th 335th 336th 337th 338th 339th 340th 341st 342nd 343rd 344th 345th 346th 347th 348th 349th 350th 351st 352nd 353rd 354th 355th 356th 357th 358th 359th 360th 361st 362nd 363rd 364th 365th 366th 367th 368th 369th 370th 371st 372nd 373rd 374th 375th 376th 377th 378th 379th 380th 381st 382nd 383rd 384th 385th 386th 387th 388th 389th 390th 391st 392nd 393rd 394th 395th 396th 397th 398th 399th 400th 401st 402nd 403rd 404th 405th 406th 407th 408th 409th 410th 411st 412th 413th 414th 415th 416th 417th 418th 419th 420th 421st 422nd 423rd 424th 425th 426th 427th 428th 429th 430th 431st 432nd 433rd 434th 435th 436th 437th 438th 439th 440th 441st 442nd 443rd 444th 445th 446th 447th 448th 449th 450th 451st 452nd 453rd 454th 455th 456th 457th 458th 459th 460th 461st 462nd 463rd 464th 465th 466th 467th 468th 469th 470th 471st 472nd 473rd 474th 475th 476th 477th 478th 479th 480th 481st 482nd 483rd 484th 485th 486th 487th 488th 489th 490th 491st 492nd 493rd 494th 495th 496th 497th 498th 499th 500th 501st 502nd 503rd 504th 505th 506th 507th 508th 509th 510th 511st 512th 513th 514th 515th 516th 517th 518th 519th 520th 521st 522nd 523rd 524th 525th 526th 527th 528th 529th 530th 531st 532nd 533rd 534th 535th 536th 537th 538th 539th 540th 541st 542nd 543rd 544th 545th 546th 547th 548th 549th 550th 551st 552nd 553rd 554th 555th 556th 557th 558th 559th 560th 561st 562nd 563rd 564th 565th 566th 567th 568th 569th 570th 571st 572nd 573rd 574th 575th 576th 577th 578th 579th 580th 581st 582nd 583rd 584th 585th 586th 587th 588th 589th 590th 591st 592nd 593rd 594th 595th 596th 597th 598th 599th 600th 601st 602nd 603rd 604th 605th 606th 607th 608th 609th 610th 611st 612th

PROVINCIAL BRIEFS

SYLVAN LAKE

Youth Performs Heroic Rescue At Popular Resort

Quick thinking on the part of W. A. McKenzie, of Smoky Lake, west of Edmonton, prevented what might have been Sylvan Lake's first drowning tragedy in three years Sunday afternoon.

A two-year-old tot whose name could not be learned immediately, fell off the new government pier into five feet of water, McKenzie, who was about 75 yards away when he saw the youngster fall, dashed into the water fully clothed and pulled the child out.

Nearly 1,000 holiday makers witnessed the rescue.

The child stayed away from an elderly child who was acting as guardian, sat down on the unfenced edge of the pier and then fell over when he leaned too far out over the water.

The youngster, who suffered no serious effects from the ducking, was left in the care of Mr. Simpson, manager of a nearby bungalow, while bathers sought to locate its parents.

BAWLEY

Gulbrand Loken high school teacher at Salt Lake, returned home for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Loken, before leaving for the Lutheran Bible Camp at Hastings Lake. Mr. Loken is secretary of the organization and predicts a record attendance this year. The newly constructed auditorium is to be dedicated Sunday, July 14, by the international president of the Young Peoples Lutheran League, Rev. Oscar Hansen, Minneapolis, Minn.

A large crowd attended the Lakeview baseball club annual picnic Sunday. The baseball league games, Gladstone defeated Chubbuck, Gladstone won from Lokenes. Other games and races were also featured.

Mrs. Anton Peter was hostess to the C.W.L. members and friends at her home north of Bawley Thursday. Mrs. George Murphy, president, presided. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Jacob Warner on Thursday, July 25.

Saves Life

REG. O'NEILL, young Wetaskiwin high school student, whose prompt action saved the life of 19-year-old Edwin MacDonald of Roseland Sunday afternoon in a near-drowning at Pigeon Lake. O'Neill dived into the water to rescue MacDonald who had got into his car's small boat. He took MacDonald to shore, where artificial respiration was made in the Lakeview Cemetery after 15 minutes. O'Neill has been prominent in activities of the Wetaskiwin high school. He was assistant editor of the school year book last term.

Funeral services were held here this week for the late Roy W. Chapman of Big Valley, who was killed in a car accident at Andrew, Alberta. Services were conducted from the J. K. Brennan funeral home by Rev. T. H. Chapman. Mr. Chapman, who made his home in Big Valley, was a conductor for the Canadian National Railway and was employed on the Mirror-Wetaskiwin line. Pallbearers were all employees of the Canadian National Railway, while interment was made in the Lakeview Cemetery at Stettler.

Mr. Chapman, who was 55 years of age, is survived by his wife and two sons, Roy and Edward, all of Big Valley.

FARMER KILLS ANGRY BRUIN AT WINFIELD

A large black bear was shot recently by Alex Kovar, one mile north-west of Winfield. The animal was first seen by Mrs. Kovar when she stepped outside the house early in the morning. The bear was only a short distance from the house and when it stood up at its hind legs it peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

The animal left the window to walk over to Kovar's car where it stood up at its hind legs and peered over the top of the car. Kovar grabbed his rifle and went outside. The bear saw Kovar and it started running toward him and Kovar wasted no time in raising his rifle and firing. Mr. Bruin. Fortunately the bear made its appearance at a time when Mrs. Kovar's small children were not outdoors playing. Its charging tactics made the animal a dangerous menace to the community.

FRENCH FLEET BETTER SUNK DE GAULLE SAYS

Would Have Been Used Against Britain and French Empire

LONDON, July 9.—General Charles de Gaulle, head of the French National Committee at London, described today the British attack on the French fleet at Oran as a "particularly cruel episode," but told the French people that "it is better they should have been destroyed."

"Our enemies would have used our ships either against Britain or against the French empire," he said in a broadcast over the British Broadcasting Corporation system.

NOT NAVAL SUCCESS. Declaring there was no reason to "gloat over" the feelings of "grief and anger" of all Frenchmen when they heard that units of the French fleet had been sunk by the British, de Gaulle said.

"Speaking to the British people, I ask them to spare us and spare themselves from any interpretation of this tragedy as a direct naval success."

"French ships at Oran were in fact incapable of fighting. They were at their moorings unable to manoeuvre or scatter. They gave to British ships the advantage of a surprise attack, which as everyone knows are decisive at sea at such short range. Their destruction is not the result of a fight."

"In the naval battle off Oran, the British sank one French battleship, heavily damaged and beached another—the Dunkerque—heavily damaged a third battleship, sank a cruiser and burned two destroyers."

De Gaulle said he would rather see "four beautiful—our beloved—our powerful" (battleships) Dunkerque grounded at Oran than to see her one day manned by German shellselling English ports or Algiers, Casablanca or Dakar.

The French government, which capitulated to Germany, now is playing the part of "slaves," he said.

The British people, he continued, could not but realize that they could be no victors for them if the soul of France went over to the enemy. "Whatever has happened, even if one of the two has for a time fallen under the yoke of a common enemy, our two great peoples, our two great peoples, remain bound to one another."

Italians Suffer Heavy Casualties. ROME, July 9.—The first of Italian casualties among troops on the western Alpine and East African fronts gave 818 killed, 2,982 wounded and 513 missing.

MORECAMBE. The local Seven Day Adventists' conference meeting with 24 new followers getting baptised. Speakers are listed as Elder S. Dunne, Elder M. P. Phibbs, Elder B. Paluschuk, Elder Riley, and Elder Davidson. Elder S. Dunne spoke on Friday evening. "Why Saturday is a real day," was the topic. The camp meeting lasted from Monday, July 1, to Sunday, July 7.

Our party must make it absolutely clear that we shall defend freedom, and defend it where they must be defended—against their enemies. These freedoms are instruments to give freedom. They must not be turned into instruments by which foreign powers invade our country and our assembly halls and our corporations to divide this nation and plunge it into the mire of civil war.

We should make it clear that the Communist party will be outlawed under our administration, because it is an instrument of a foreign government, and that the Bund will be outlawed for the same reason. But we should deal with this problem at the source, and not by persecuting deluded W.P.A. workers. And we should grant to all Americans whose party line is not at odds with the American people, the right to advocate what they will, so honest, independent men. Nor shall we interfere with the right of enterprise to live free from to betray this greater freedom for any investments or opportunities abroad.

We should give our oath that never will there be a Nazi or Communist movement camping on the White House lawn or in the halls of government.

We should swear that never will men live in terror because of their race.

We shall not protect our institutions by a defensive, but by an offensive war. But we shall wage that offensive against the leaders and not against the little fellows, for they will come with us when they see where we are going.

The chief reason why the Fifth Column is a menace is because all our own men are in the line, but are seeking their own interests.

The beginning of our defense program is spiritual integration.

For twelve hundred years, in victory and in defeat, France has been a great and independent nation. Today France is beaten to her knees.

For more than nine hundred years Great Britain has been a mighty power. Today she faces a great crisis.

Why has this happened to two great nations? France was beaten in part because she did not have enough machines, but she was also because she was divided by her guns upon the field of battle. Why did they drop their guns and abandon their mechanized columns? Because their leaders had wasted their energies in petty bickering, because their leaders loved their own political jobs and their own foreign investments and their own private lives more than they loved the nation. Because their leaders were blind to the social discontent among the people. Because of the incredible complacency of those leaders, who up to the last moment

Britons' Backyards Have Anderson Shelters For Air Raid Protection

By HAROLD FAIR

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 9.—Most English back yards are disgraced by a mound of earth strikingly reminiscent of a Canadian root cellar but this mound, an Anderson shelter, has proved the best protection possible against air raids.

In all the raids on Britain since the war began no one so far has been killed or seriously injured in an Anderson shelter.

COMMUNAL SHELTERS. Two people were in a shelter in a northwestern district when a bomb dropped and exploded only 10 feet away. One man was standing near the door which was blown open. It struck him and caused a minor injury, but those inside were unharmed.

For congested areas without a garden, communal shelters have been provided. These take the form of brick-and-steel surface shelters, built in rows of two or three, such as are to be found in many parks.

Large blast and splinter-proof shelters, built of concrete and steel, are being constructed down the centre of broad London streets in the back of a store. They are erected according to home security specifications with reinforced concrete roofs, staggered entrances and emergency exits. These shelters are divided into sections, the maximum capacity of each being 50 persons. They are designed to resist the blast of a 500 lb. high explosive bomb falling 50 feet away.

MADE COMFORTABLE. The Anderson shelter is an earth-covered steel structure with a corrugated iron front and a small opening for a door. The roof must be covered with 15 inches of earth, and the back and sides with 30 inches.

Named after Sir John Anderson, who gave the shelter its name, the shelter is mainly the product of Dr. David Anderson, a consultant in home security, who has no relation to the minister.

One or two families use these shelters, cover the floors with carpets, and in the front room, they stick in the odd chair and make sure that "Aunt Fanny" has some of her favourite rocking chairs waiting there when the sirens wail.

German U-Boat Captain Known. LONDON, July 9.—A naval officer said Monday that information had been received that Lt. Capt. Günther Prien, who U-boat last October penetrated the Atlantic and sank the battleship Royal Oak, commanded the submarine that sank the British liner Atlantis last week off Ireland. Approximately 1,000 persons, including German and Italian prisoners of war, are missing.

Spanish Palace Offered As Haven. MADRID, July 9.—Gen. Francisco Franco Monday placed La Granja, a large estate near the city, at the disposal of the three children of King Leopold of Belgium, who are in London, and who they planned to go to Portugal.

They were prepared to settle things with a deal. Let us not make the same mistake as America. Today, to a degree that could not even be imagined two months ago, we are in a position where our armament is essential to win a war or defend a nation. But machines are driven by men and no country can defend itself whose soldiers and citizens do not fight their several battles in complete solidarity and conviction.

This hemisphere, as the last refuge of the Right Man, must be equipped to repulse not only one mighty power but a combination of hostile powers. America must arm herself, using whatever means are necessary for this task, with a joyful willingness to sacrifice on a scale and with a speed that will surpass the expectation and the imagination of all potential enemies of this country. America must arm herself in spirit and in might. We must make a nation which every American of every race, creed and economic condition will die to defend.

We shall look to our defense, to our social defenses and to our material defenses. And I have absolute confidence that if we do so, there will pour forth that spiritual energy without which nothing great can be done.

America is facing the greatest moment of her history. She is facing one of the great moments in the history of the world. She is not yet awakened, either to her peril or to the sublime grandeur of her task. She shall either fulfill on this hemisphere the hopes that mankind has always had of us or she shall perish off this earth.

We do not perish. We shall fulfill those hopes. There is no time to lose. Let us begin today.

Fellow citizens, it does not greatly matter who is President of the United States, as long as he is an honest and able man. We need no Führer. We are self-governing. But it matters very greatly that the people of the United States who feel the importance of this hour should get together in the greatest pressure group in history—the people's group of America.

In response to your many letters, I have therefore made this move. Let us find each other and then find millions more.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Copyright, 1940, Edmonton Bulletin and New Edinburgh, Ltd.

Wednesday Morning Specials!

Personal Shopping Only. Store Closes at 1 p.m.

WOODWARD

THE BEST FOR LESS

STORE HOURS, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.—TELEPHONE 23181

READY-TO-WEAR

Women's and Misses' Spring Coats. A Morning Special of Better Quality Spring Coats offered at a sterling value. Imported and domestic trends in a pleasing selection of fitted and tailored styles. Splendid, ready-to-wear. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $12.95

Women's and Misses' Afternoon Frocks. An enticing group of higher priced Afternoon Frocks showing a tendency to the new "casual" style. Imported and domestic. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $2.49

Special Showing of Home Frocks. Well known branded lines of quality Home Frocks featured in a grand assortment of colors and designs. Cotton, wool and silk. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.19

Toiletries. Princess Hair Dressing. 23c. Cream, real value. 23c. Double Duty Tooth Paste. 23c. On The Main Floor.

Millinery. Special offering of hats. Summer hats, including Tulle, Net, Straw, etc. All at special prices. Sizes 6 1/2 to 7 1/2. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.89

SILKS. Garden Violes. Beautiful soft sheer Violes in pastel colors. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.00

42-inch Satin. A very wide and quality Satin in a wide variety of colors. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.00

"Lingerie" Girdles. Level quality. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.00

79c or 2 for $1.39. Summer Lingerie. Features: Lingerie, Petticoats, Blouses, Pajamas and overalls. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.39

79c or 2 for $1.39. Girls' Wash Dresses. Pattern styles to fit up to six years. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.39

$1.00 each 2 for $1.79. Hosiery Specials. For a good wearing hose choose these. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.79

Notions and Handbags. Ladies' handbags. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.79

60x80 inch Plaid Rugs. A wonderful value for four. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.79

Notions and Handbags. Ladies' handbags. Sizes 34 to 42. Wednesday Morning Special. $1.79

60x80 inch Plaid Rugs.

Mrs. Ferris Addresses Club On Efficiency Of Women's Work

Home Front Guild Holds Meeting At Home Of Mrs. McDonough

Tremendous growth in the efficiency of organization in women's work in recent years was outlined by Mrs. W. D. Ferris on Monday evening, when she addressed members of the Home Front Guild, at the home of Mrs. George McDonough.

Mrs. Ferris pointed out that at the present time women are being brought together in large numbers, and on short notice, to accomplish an almost unbelievable amount of work.

The speaker paid tribute to the organization of women army canteen workers during the war, and to the efficiency of the British military services during the present war. The sending of large numbers of men to their depots in Britain following their departure from Dunkirk was smoothly and quickly done, she said.

It was reported that a donation of more than 100 magazines made by a member of the Guild to the Edmonton Garrison, for the use of the soldiers.

Bringing the total of cigarettes provided for the Edmonton troops during the past two months to 11,000, an additional donation of 3,000 cigarettes has been made, it was reported.

Another soldier has been "adopted" by the Home Front Guild, and a shower for yet another soldier will be held at the next meeting of the Guild, to take place on Monday, July 22, at the home of Mrs. Gibson, 11243 101 street.

Mrs. G. McDonough was assisted during the social hour, which followed the business session, by Mrs. George McDonough, Jr., and Miss Allen Greenlee.

Winter Styles Previewed At Fashion Show

NEW YORK, July 9.—The girls will be lining up to starboard this fall.

For the new winter lines sport the side saddle drape—the fashion neophyte in draping a pleat that dangles enticingly on the right. They're worn mostly on afternoon creations, which the experts say will have an agron from the saddle effect. A dora head brooch at the neck goes with the saddle.

A look yesterday at a preview of winter's early fashions discloses also that the pencil silhouette is the thing this season.

The dominant color is black. But the catchy line is the sophisticated junior—the 35-year-old can wear them if they have the figure, according to the house designers.

They feature the lowered waistline. Particularly fetching in one point-house offering was a stunner in Rambouillet brown. A new silhouette showed to advantage how the skirt tapers more this season, getting away from the "clumpy lines" of the full flare.

For evening, the new combination formal and dinner dress promises to go well. Slip off the Chinese mandarin jacket and be ready for anything. A silver blue dress showed how is done in sapphire blue.

The house man waxed enthusiastically. "Note those lines. It's smart, it's stunning, it's got everything."

Of the war role, the designers this season lead to straight military effects. The backs are straighter. Epaulettes in novelty jewellery adorn the shoulders. The trimming and beading go up and down in straight rows.

Black is the color for 50-per cent of this season's styles. As the experts put it: "Whenever there's a war, the style is always black—black and glitter."

There's something new in materials. Wool will be used for evening gowns—lots of wool, say those who know. They demonstrated with a blond, a red jersey top and a wool plain skirt.

Mrs. J. W. Sherman has left for the Pacific coast, en route to San Mateo, California where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erickson.

Mr. Robert Sherman is at present in San Mateo, the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Erickson.

In compliment to Miss Miriam Carwell, bride-to-be of Mr. Guy Martin, an attractive party was arranged recently by Mrs. A. Cotter and Miss Marie Nelson. The affair was held at Mrs. Cotter's home and kitchen gifts were presented to the honored guest. A beautifully decorated wedding cake of ice cream centered the table during the tea hour. Miss Carwell was also honored one evening recently when members of the Dominions club entertained at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds. A tea set was presented to the bride-elect.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or let it get worse. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose set from any pharmacist, a package of Hemorrhoid ointment as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves itching and soreness and aids in healing the area. Under spots of hemorrhoids, which is easy to use and it means the hemorrhoid is not someone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is as pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Merrick Drug Stores

Christ Church Is Scene Of Wedding

CHRIST church, decorated with a profusion of peonies in pink and white was the scene of a lovely summer wedding one evening recently when Martha Steven (Miss) Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, pledged vows of marriage with Donald Lawrence Fowler, son of Mrs. L. S. Fowler.

Canon G. P. Gower officiated at the ceremony. Palest blue net and lace over tullea fashioned the graceful frock chosen by the bride for her wedding. She wore a matching lace colonial cap, white gloves and accessories and carried deep red roses in her arm, bouquet.

Brown gave his daughter in marriage. Attending her sister as matron-of-honor, Mrs. A. E. Newson wore a charming frock in fuchsia georgette with white floral cap and white gloves. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Later Mr. Fowler and his bride left for a wedding trip to Jasper and Banff. They will return to the city to take up residence in Garneau. To travel, Mrs. Fowler chose a becoming costume in lined crepe with black top coat, printed with matching print and accessories in black and white.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

Mr. A. Traynor supported the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brown was smart in a jacket dress of navy blue sheer over tullea, trimmed with white starch, lace. She wore modish hat in navy rough straw. Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents and assisting in receiving the guests was Mrs. G. Ingle.

MRS. F. ARMOUR FORD

who, after spending the past five months in England with her husband, Major Ford, Officer Commanding 61-101 Field Battery, Eighth Army Field Regiment, R.C.A., returned to Edmonton on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Ford is at present the guest of Major Ford's parents, Hon. Mr. Justice Frank Ford and Mrs. Ford.

the social round

MISS ANN DICKSON has arrived in the city from North Battleford, where she was a guest of her parents, Mr. S. A. Dickson, K.C., and Mrs. Dickson.

MR. AND MRS. CECIL HEWSON, accompanied by Mrs. Hewson's mother, Mrs. W. W. McBurn, and her two brothers, have left for Berkeley, California. Mr. Hewson plans to attend the University of Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis K. Yorath of Calgary have returned to their home after visiting in Jasper for a few days, guests at the Jasper Park Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cullis and their small daughter, Donna, arrived in Edmonton from Vancouver on Sunday evening to visit in the city for a fortnight, guests of Mr. Cullis' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cullis at their home in Garneau.

Miss Marjorie Shorney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shorney of Alameda, Calif., formerly of Edmonton, is leaving on Wednesday for her home, after visiting in the city for a few days, guest of her uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cullis.

Mr. Norton Fergus of Edmonton is visiting in Calgary during Stampede week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilson who have been visiting in Edmonton guests of their daughter, Mrs. Wilson, and Mrs. Harry Freese, have left for their home at the Pacific coast. En route they are visiting in Kamloops, guests of their son, Mr. Lester Wilson.

Mr. Lillie Belne of Sydney, Australia, who is visiting in Edmonton during the course of a tour of Canada and the United States, will be the guest speaker at a tea arranged by the Social Credit Women Workers, on Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. T. B. Irwin, 11250 50 street. Mrs. Belne will speak on Australia and New Zealand. The affair will commence at half-past one o'clock. In charge of the arrangements is Mrs. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fowler are at home again after visiting briefly in Calgary.

Reports on the war work of members were made at a meeting of the Twentieth Century Women's Liberal club on Monday evening when eight new members were welcomed to its organization. Plans were completed for the garden party to be held on Thursday evening at the Highlands home of Mr. Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., and Mrs. Clarke, and Miss Hattie Bernstein, convener of the affair, announced that the Edmonton School Boys' Band will play during the party, which is being held in aid of the Twentieth Century Ambulance Fund. Reports were presented on the knitting being done for the Red Cross, and the tag day held on Saturday last in aid of the ambulance fund.

Mrs. Thomas Guy Johnson of Vancouver arrived in the city on Tuesday to attend the marriage of her nephew Mr. Leonard Clayton Martin and Miss Miriam Ada Carson, which is to take place on Wednesday evening. Mr. Martin arrived from Vancouver on Sunday.

Of interest to many friends in the city is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dent of the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Gladys Elsie Dent to Mr. Gordon Douglas Cousins, son of Mrs. A. Cousins and the late Mr. Cousins of Peachland, B.C. The marriage will take place in Peachland on Saturday, August 3rd.

Feting Miss Phyllis Cuthbertson and her fiancé, Mr. Cameron Ritchie, whose marriage has been arranged for July 14th, Mrs. G. McDonald and Miss Margaret Thompson entertained at dinner at Miss Thompson's home on Sunday. Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. T. Thomlinson, Mr. and Mrs. I. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bailey, Mrs. Ruth Guley, Mr. C. McDonald, Mr. Orman Ritchie and Mr. K. Thompson.

I.O.D.E. Unit Plans Variety Fair

PRELIMINARY plans for a "Variety Fair" to be held at the home of Mrs. Lowell H. Cobble, during the month of September, were made at a recent meeting of the Earl of St. Andrews chapter, I.O.D.E., at the home of Mrs. L. Balaban. In the absence of the regent, Mrs. Ems, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. S. Ross.

War work convener, Mrs. G. M. Dunlap, reported that several sweaters, socks and other field comforts had been turned in for Edmonton troops overseas, and additional work was given out. It was also reported that material assistance had been rendered to a soldier's wife from out of the city, while she was ill in Edmonton.

Mrs. McRea, convener of the magazine subscriptions, reported that members were taking orders for all varieties of magazine subscriptions as a means toward raising funds for war work.

Members agreed to sell bomber cap stickers, in aid of the order's national bomber fund. It was reported that the chapter had contributed $50 toward its pledge of $100 for the fund.

Mrs. Joseph Morrison was welcomed as a new member. Members were asked to continue their donations of layettes to the provincial public health nursing division.

A social hour followed the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sherman of Calgary are visiting in the city for a few days, guests at the Macdonald hotel. They arrived in Edmonton on Sunday.

Woman M.P. Cuts Expenses Of Wardrobe Until War Is Over

LONDON, July 9.—Not until the war has drawn to a close will Dr. Edith Summerskill replenish her wardrobe.

Dr. Summerskill, Socialist member of parliament for West Fulham, has been admonishing women not to buy new clothes since the outbreak of the war. When it is a choice between gowns or guns, she says, the answer is obvious.

The money must go for guns, tanks, airplanes and other necessities of war.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

E.L.T. Players Will Present "Our Town" At Summer School

Nurses Report Courage Of Soldiers

LONDON, July 9.—Nurses who returned with the British Expeditionary Force from Flanders told of the dogged courage of wounded soldiers and of constant airplane attacks on hospital units by German airplanes.

One nurse, who called the fortitude of the British troops "marvellous," spoke of a private carried from the battlefield with both eyes bandaged and terrible head wounds. He was blinded in one eye, but when the other was bathed and he found he could see, he told her cheerfully, "Oh, I have one eye, sister."

Whenever ambulances arrived, the hospital was bombed, she said. "The Red Cross is the thing the Germans want to bomb out of existence," she declared.

Another nurse was left behind when she failed to receive orders that a mobile hospital was to be evacuated. She was taken to a wounded British officer. She drove with them in a motor ambulance to the station. But the train on which they should have travelled had left and the station was in ruins.

They drove on to a seaport 30 miles away. The boat on which they were to embark had been bombed. They proceeded to another port to find mines had rendered it unusable. Eventually an ambulance train took them to Dopepe where they went aboard a hospital ship.

Miss Mary A. Smith of Montreal, who has been visiting in Edmonton for a few days, guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Traynor, has left for her home in the east. Miss Smith came to Edmonton after visiting in Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper. While in the city she was the guest of honor at many delightful parties including a luncheon at which Mrs. A. E. Knowler entertained.

new hat or scarf saying they had decided not to buy them after all and would I see that the money went "towards the national cause."

Dr. Summerskill said she has had letters from dozens of women who agree with her.

"Some of them—quite poor women—have sent me the few shillings which they had saved for a

New Technique Features Thornton Wilder's Clever Play

"Our Town." Thornton Wilder's much talked of play is to be presented by the Edmonton Little Theatre in Convocation hall Thursday and Friday evenings of this week.

Written with a new technique and marked with such humor, simplicity and warm understanding that it is a distinguished example of the modern American theatre. The curtain is up as the audience assembles, and remains up until the end of the play, a minimum of scenery is used and the stage manager appears with the rest of the characters, filling many small roles and acting as commentator. The story is a delightful and poignant picture of the everyday lives, loves and deaths of a group of people in a small town that happens to be in New Hampshire, but might be any place in America.

Mr. Fred Val Carey, one of Edmonton's finest character actors, directed the original Little Theatre performance of "Our Town" and is again in charge of production.

The cast comprises Guy Brown, who played the part of Emily Webb with such sympathy and understanding in the first presentation; Richard Locke, one of the Little Theatre's leading younger players; Allan D. Rowat, Jack Folsabee, Betty Shaw, Maureen Higgins, Robert Kidder, Charlotte Moore, Jack Unwin, Harry Weitz, D'Alton Ford, Cecil Lord, Jack Delaney, David Carlson, Guy Yelzer, Joan Keen, James Woods, James Spillane, and Agnes Bradley.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

She went to the Bishop of London's garden party in a dress and coat which I have had two years.

Dr. Summerskill, looking stylish and chic, explained that she hadn't bought a new dress since the outbreak of war. All she did was to "invest" in a couple of new belts and some white blouse collars and cuffs to give old ones new life.

Producing Edmonton's Finer PRINTING —ON—
Catalogues . . . Envelopes
Letter Heads . . . Business Forms
Loose Leaf Systems . . . Wedding and Social Stationery

Everything From Business Cards
To Catalogues Handled With Exacting Care and Taste

BULLETIN PRINTERS LIMITED

Telephone 26454

9616 101A Avenue

Our Representative Will Call

LACE-EDGED ORGANDY

Ripples of frothy white, lace-edged organdy make this charming collar and the cuffs which fall softly over elbows. Inspired by the kind of neckwear Lillian Russell wore, the set is just the thing to wear on dark silk sheers and conservative prints.

Bulletin Patterns

PLAYTIME BALLERINA

With Contrasting Bolero

3257
SIZES 10-20

The young and gay in a ballerina playdress... the sensation of the summer season. Its snugly fitted waistband, well-cut top, and swirling skirt are flatteringly lovely. Wide straps stay up on your shoulders and handy pockets take care of any gaudy you wish to carry with you. While of pastel sharkskin, pique or uncrushable linen are all appropriate fabrics for such a smart, style, and candy striped cotton is a youthful consideration. Make the bolero, too, to slip on when you want to cover up. Such a grand dress for all sorts of activities and every occasion all summer.

Style No. 3257 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 20-in. material for dress, 1 1/2 yards for bolero.

Send 20 cents in coin for pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size you wish. Address: Pattern Department, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

The New Summer Fashion Book is a "must" for a smart wardrobe. The full color illustrations of over a hundred styles will help you select your clothes for all occasions. Send for your copy today. The price is 15 cents.

What To Do

I am having a large church wedding at 4 o'clock and would like your advice. My attendants are carrying long-stemmed garden flowers without ribbons. On which arm should they be carried? Who stands in the reception line and when should the reception line disperse?—MISS A. E. M.

Answer—Flowers are naturally carried on the left arm, leaving the right arm free, but if you prefer a balanced effect, the bridesmaids on the right-hand side in the procession may carry their flowers on the right or outside arm. In the reception line are the bride's mother, the groom's mother, the bride, the groom, maid of honor and bridesmaids. Sometimes the fathers of the bride and groom stand in the reception line, but generally they prefer to act as hosts and introduce the guests to each other. The best man and ushers do not have a place in the reception line and also mingle with the guests. The reception line should not disperse until all the guests have arrived and have had an opportunity to congratulate the bride and groom.

According to a recent survey the older a used car, the easier it is to sell. A car which is older than six years takes an average of 231 days to move, but a car only a year old takes 47.4 days to sell. The average turnover period is 37.8 days.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile every day. If it doesn't, you'll feel bloated, tired, and sluggish. That's why it's so important to keep your liver healthy. Dr. Carter's Little Liver Pills are the best way to do it. They're gentle, effective, and they'll make you feel like a new man. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills at your druggist or mail order.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix—It is the old story. A boy of 19 and a girl of 18 who are madly in love with each other but cannot marry because he has his mother to support. We can see nothing but years of waiting ahead of us and are debating whether we shall take our happiness as we find it and live together without benefit of clergy, or not. Do you think we will ever regret it if we do?

UNDECIDED.

Answer: I think you will always regret it if you become, no matter how your little romance under the rose turns out, you will have incurred your love. You will have degraded and dragged into the dust what should be the most sacred and beautiful relationship on earth. Always on your conscience will be the knowledge that you have broken the law of God and man; always there will be a shameful secret in your background that you will be afraid people will find out and that you will dread your children discovering. For, you see, marriage should not be just a legalized liaison. It should be the beginning of a new life. It should be the coming together of a man and a woman with pure hearts and clean hands and with an unswerving love.

For a mature man and woman whose tastes and habits are formed and who know their own minds to enter into a liaison is a dangerous enough experiment. But for a boy and girl still in their teens to risk their all in such a venture, is sheer madness and suicide.

Under the best circumstances, the marriage of a boy and girl too young to realize the responsibilities of marriage and to bear its burdens, is a hazardous thing.

So if legalized love cannot stand the gaff, how can illicit love endure when it is put to the test of the uncertainty of marriage and to hold on the other, of changing tastes of a guilty conscience, and the continual dread of discovery?

Also there is a practical side to the question, because when you get into a liaison, you get into a thing that is the highest commodity in the world.

A girl has to pay for it with her good name. If she does not, she has to pay for it with a broken heart, if her lover deserts her, as he generally does.

Nor does the boy get off without settling a score for his wrong-doing. For if he doesn't marry the girl he is a heel, despised by all decent people; and if he does marry his mistress he has a wife who is a distinct social and business handicap to him.

So, boys and girls, think long and carefully before you throw your lives over the windmill.

DOROTHY DIX.

MORE ABOUT REVOLUTION

CONTINUED FROM PAGE FOUR

returned to the colony—here she was received by her subjects with unheeded manifestations of frustration, the populace was up against something it did not understand, it was a departure from custom. While she had been away on her unproductive flight the workers, noting the inactivity of the recalcitrant males, ran hither and thither in a frenzy of ineptitude. They knew there was something wrong, but they didn't know what it was. Thus they shouldered and heaved the drums out of the hive but, feeling that these had not done their stuff, refrained from killing them, so that they continued in their fatalism.

Although it was an unprecedented thing the Queen pulled herself together and made another flight, this time with similar results. There were no bidders for her favor.

Thus the seeds of their own destruction were laid by the very laudable desire for progress and right thinking, initiated by the thinking drone.

Very shortly the capacity for thought spread—some must suppose by instinct and herd-mindedness—through the hive. The working females noting the stand of the drones, began to take stock of their own position. Certainly, they thought, they were in the majority, they were strong and they could fight. There arose a class among them who envied the drones their immunity from work. "Why," they said, "should we do all the work for both the Queen and the drones while they have all the fun?"

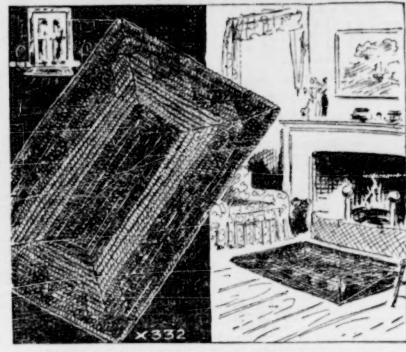

Wherefore this class set themselves up as an aristocracy of leisure and compelled the greater mass of their fellows to look after them. They even prevailed upon the nurse bees to provide them with the royal food so that they became in some sort imitation queens. But they were queens with a difference. Whereas the former and instinctive Queen had only one mission in her career, these imposters liked being queens for the fun that was in it. They conducted clandestine affairs with the drones as the workers, who still remained at their tasks, began to mutter and grumble.

But the day of reckoning was at hand. Backwards and forwards went the tide of progress until the inevitable happened. The brood cells were empty. During the protracted period the workers had been feeding in the brood cells, but now those cells that should have contained brood, but nothing emerged. The old bees were fast succumbing to the ravages of time and very soon the whole colony was swept away in ruin.

The master mind who guided their destinies as producers but who did not know the secret spring of their activities arose from the bee-keeper, scratched his head

Today's Popular Design

By CAROL AINES

DESIGN No. 332—STOCKING CROCHET HEARTH RUG

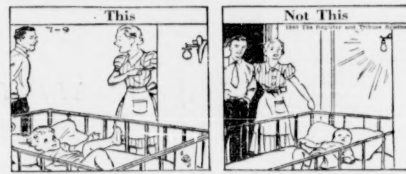

Make this hearth rug in a simple crocheted stitch with the old silk stockings, alone or silk or cotton fabric.

Pattern No. X332 contains list of materials needed, illustration of the design and complete instructions.

To order this pattern, write your name and address on a piece of paper and send with 20 cents in coin to Needlework Department, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

Points For Parents

By EDITH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "We won't use this light until I get a shade for it. Even though the globe is small, it will hurt baby's eyes if it is uncovered."

Mother: "Baby loves to look at a light and this bulb is so small, I don't believe it will hurt him."

Protect baby's eyes from glare.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Two weeks' vacation with pay and pay begins for the working lady. Almost the first thing she does is after a hasty glance to see if there are a few nice men—its golden tan of the festive competition. Compared to them, you're as white you feel anemic!

Naturally, you are determined to acquire that sun-kissed look as soon as possible—but don't try to do it any sooner. If this is your first genuine exposure to sun, take it easy. Allow a full week in which to tan beautifully and painlessly.

Vacation the time for healthful fun. The dangerous hours are between 11 o'clock in the morning and three in the afternoon. During those hours, your stay should be limited to 15 minutes. You should be safe, however, for a whole hour in the early morning sun, and perhaps for another hour in the late afternoon. By the third day, you may be able to extend your early morning sunbathing to one and one-half hours, with more in the late afternoon.

TENDERSKIN? Whether you can take that amount of sun depends on how much tender skin you are. The minute your skin feels hot to the touch or shows a tinge of red, swamper for the shade—regardless of whether your scheduled time is up! Another quarter of an hour's exposure might make your vacation just a painful memory.

Minute Make-Ups When you baste on a hot day, don't use cold water. A tepid bath—virtually body temperature—will cool you off most quickly. Finish the bath by spraying yourself with an eau de Cologne or toilet water. This will give you that cooling, cool feeling and at the same time refresh you.

And he cleaned the dead and moribund swarm from the unproductive hive and commented: "I do be surely gormed if I know what's be comin' to them bees. There do be a grand lot of bees, ay, there do be no brood time. It do do be a vastation, that's what it do be."

Vegetable Soup Makes Perfect Meal In Summer

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

A vegetable soup makes a perfect summertime meal in a dish. It should be studded with garden vegetables and herbs, thickened slightly with potatoes and wholemeal toast strips, and served with hard rolls and cheese. There you have a meal—dish, rich in flavor and vitamins and easy on the food budget. If you cook it in one of the new top-of-the-stove glass saucepans, you can remove the handle from the saucepan just before serving and thereby turn the saucepan itself into an attractive glass soup tureen for the table.

VEGETABLE SOUP

Three and one-half cups consommé stock, 1 cup shredded raw cabbage, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup cut-up parsley, 1 cup tomatoes, 1 onion, diced, 1 cup parsley potatoes (left over), 1 teaspoon salt, 3 slices wholemeal toast.

Place stock in a two-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan, add cabbage, carrots, celery and onion and bake for about 25 to 30 minutes over direct heat. Add tomatoes, potatoes, parsley and salt. Heat thoroughly and serve from the glass saucepan. A good tureen. Cabbage, carrots and celery can easily be prepared the day before when the saucepan is being made.

CREAMED HAM

(Six servings) One-half cup butter, 1 cup flour, 3 cups milk, 1 bouillon cube, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 cup cooked diced ham, 1 egg yolk. Melt butter in the upper part of a 1 1/2-quart heat-resistant glass double-boiler. Blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add bouillon cube and seasonings; cook for about 15 minutes or until ham is thoroughly heated. Garnish with parsley and place the whole double-boiler, with hot water in the bottom, on the table. This insures hot second servings.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Raspberries and cream, soft cooked eggs, whole-wheat toast, orange marmalade, coffee, milk. Luncheon: Vegetable soup, crackers, sliced bananas and cream, jiffy spice cake, chocolate milk. Dinner: Cream ham on split Salt Linn muffins, Lima beans and tomatoes, curly lettuce salad, Russian dressing, apricot whip, coffee, milk.

Home Service

Learn Good Tennis Form

To Shine on the Courts

Develop Expert Footwork

Now discouraging, when you'd like to play tennis well, to be always missing balls, to appear the incurable dud. But cheer up! By practising with the right instructions you can improve your form, learn to play a top-notch game. When balls are missed or "fowled", the trouble often is poor footwork. Never turn and run at a ball unless you cannot reach it otherwise you may end up off balance, with feet tangled. To keep balanced, in a position from which you can hit hard and accurately, learn to "two-step" toward the ball. Suppose your opponent's shot is coming toward your forehead, a little ahead of you. Step forward

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The sneakiness a child displays when he steals apples is the whole business is so unchildlike and distasteful. Yet it is perfectly natural and explicable. Sneaking is done by individuals who have never learned to keep hands off the possessions of others.

They may not learn this for any number of reasons, but in early childhood it is plain they were told that they must wait until given permission to use what belongs to someone else.

OWNERSHIP

It is hard for a child to understand ownership unless he has things which belong to him. If it be only a slice of a string of beads, we have to show as much respect for these, as if they had intrinsic value. We have to remove brother's car from sister's clothing hands with the remark, "That belongs to brother. Perhaps he will let you play with it. But if not, here is your car. You can have that."

When the baby begins to grab at the clutter of objects which stand around temptingly in every living room, we may be grateful about allowing him to look at and touch with your left foot always ahead, your right foot dragging after—as our diagram shows.

If the shot were coming to your backhand, you would "two-step" toward it in the same way, but with the right foot leading.

Other phases of tennis are as simple to master—and you can make a hit this Summer with your fast accurate game. Our 22-page booklet by George Agutter teaches the serve, forehand, backhand, left volley, cut strokes. Gives expert advice on footwork, tactics, practicing. Send the coin for your copy of "Develop Correct Tennis Form" to Home Service, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of booklet.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

Our booklet on "Why Children

It Makes a Nicer Cool Drink

"SALADA" Iced Tea

them. But we make it plain that these are ours and unless we permit it the baby cannot use them as playthings. Don't think children can't learn. It is just a matter of pleasant and consistent repetition of what we are trying to teach them.

The education continues out of doors. Flowers can be swelled but not plucked unless the owner says so. When we take the baby visiting we point out any new attractions but immediately qualify them with, "Those are Mrs. Smith's," in a tone which has a hands-off quality.

What do we do when baby ignores our teachings? Then baby has to stay in his playpen, or play upstairs in a room with only his own toys, or do home promptly, when visiting, in order to show him that our words have meaning.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children if you will send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

TEACHING BENEFITS

These lessons must be impressed upon the child early so that they will have an accumulative value when he is exposed to the temptations at school and in stores where there are as many things he may want but must know he cannot have because they do not belong to him. All children will make mistakes, but fewer of them if we begin our teaching early.

Our booklet on "Why Children

Debunker

MOST PEOPLE DO NOT BELIEVE IN FREE SPEECH

Although most of us would fight for our rights of free speech, it is another matter when we consider the free speech of others. Most of us don't even believe in it, says Edmund B. Chaffee, of Harvard, who declares: "Not one in a hundred believes in it." Such an attitude is a huge moral achievement, attained to by but few. The majority of us are far free speech only when it deals with those subjects concerning which we do not feel strongly, about which we have no intense convictions. Our democratic rights of free speech and worship are precious possessions and we should all resist any encroachment upon them; they spell the flowering of the human spirit.

THIS FAMOUS WHOLE WHEAT CEREAL IS "FOOD FOR HEALTH IN PEACE AND WAR"

The authoritative booklet prepared by the Canadian Medical Association, recommends "whole grain cereals" as one of the essential "protective" foods that you should eat every day. Shredded Wheat is a "whole grain cereal"—it is 100% pure whole wheat in its most palatable form. Two Shredded Wheat cereals contain no less than eight vital food values: Three Vitamins (A, B, and C), Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus, Proteins and Carbohydrates. . . Give your family this "protective" whole wheat cereal daily. It's mighty good to taste—and costs only a few cents a serving.

THE CANADIAN SHREDDED WHEAT COMPANY, Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada

MADE IN CANADA—OF CANADIAN WHEAT

Adventure in Alaska!

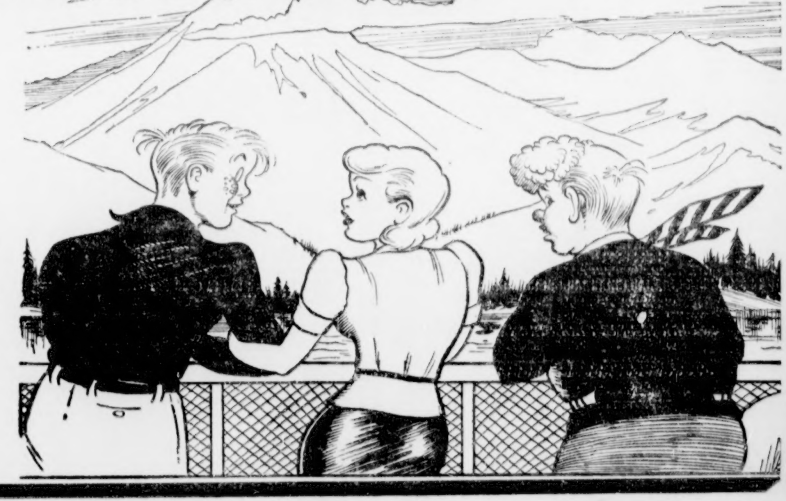

Comedy
Excitement!
Surprise!
Suspense!
Romance!

Just the thought of being bound for Alaska gives Freckles McGoosy and Lark Smith a big thrill. But the biggest thrills will begin to pop when they get there! Stick right with the boys on a grand summertime adventure by reading...

"Freckles and His Friends"

A Daily Comic Strip Appearing Exclusively in

THE BULLETIN

BUILDING OF CITY GARAGE IS OPPOSED

Alderman G. A. Campbell
Says Cost Unjustified
In Wartime

Strong opposition to any additional expenditure for a new city garage under the present war conditions was voiced by Alderman G. A. Campbell at a meeting of the city council held in the Civic block Monday evening. Discussion arose out of a report by city commissioners regarding the proposed addition to the city garage on 96th street. The report was tabled pending the receipt of a report from the commissioners on the cost of converting the old W. H. Cushing factory into a city garage.

Ald. Campbell was critical of the manner in which the Cushing building "had been allowed to go to wrack and ruin" since being taken over by the city more than a year ago. "The building (Cushing factory) has been allowed to deteriorate in a manner that would not be allowed in the business world. We have too much money in the building to allow it to go to wrack and ruin in this manner. I am absolutely opposed to building a new garage anywhere," Alderman Campbell declared.

SAID GOOD ENOUGH

Alderman Campbell also pointed out that the old Cushing building in the old South Side market square at 83 avenue and 104 street would be suitable for storage for buses operating in that district. "We will have to put up with a lot of things and change our ideas radically before the war is over," declared Alderman Campbell. "The buildings are not what we would build if we were going to put up a new garage, but they are plenty good enough for the present time," he said.

Ald. Col. E. Brown, M.M. E.D., area commandant, heartily endorsed Ald. Campbell's attitude.

Commissioners have objected to the use of the Cushing factory as a city garage due to the fact that the warehouse, stores and workshops have all been centralized around the site of the present city garage on 96th street. The Cushing building would necessitate a driving mileage of approximately 4 1/2 miles night and morning for the loading and unloading of trucks. They pointed out that this mileage would amount to a very serious item in the course of a year. The cost of the proposed addition to the city garage is approximately $40,000.

HOLD SPECIAL MEET

A special meeting of council is expected to be called to consider this matter as soon as the necessary figures on the cost of alterations to the Cushing factory necessary for changing it into a suitable city garage, together with other costs such as dead mileage and the moving of equipment, can be obtained from the city architect.

RECENT RAINFALL BENEFITS CROPS ALBERTA FARMS

Rains since July 1 alleviated drought conditions that were becoming serious in many parts of Alberta and the general crop situation now is good. It was stated in a report issued Tuesday by Hon. D. B. Mullen, provincial minister of agriculture.

Early wheat is heading throughout the province and coarse grains, although later, are making satisfactory progress. Pastures are being regreened by recent rains and haymaking has begun, with yields reported satisfactory.

Grasshoppers have caused serious losses in a few areas of southeast Alberta and local hail storms have destroyed crops in several districts.

Livestock are in good condition and dairy production is about normal, while poultry raising is enjoying normal progress, the report said.

ALBERTA MOTOR ASSOCIATION ROAD REPORTS

Safety slogan: The use of the motor does not give you the right-of-way. Tuesday's road report: Rainy morning. Dirt roads greasy; main highways fair to good. In the Peace River district heavy rains fell yesterday and rain was still falling Tuesday morning, making roads muddy.

A young woman who just can't seem to leave liquor alone was fined $50 and costs with the alternative of two months in jail. She left the bar after serving a 30-day stretch for intoxication just last month.

Films Developed
25¢
WILLSON STATIONERY
1000 JASPER AVE. EDMONTON

War Certificates Bought At Rate Of $5,000 Daily Here

Sale of war savings certificates through Edmonton chartered banks has been progressing this week at an average of $5,000 daily, according to an announcement made Tuesday by J. G. Nickerson, chairman of the bankers' committee. The total exceeds $170,000.

Additional district branches have accepted posts. G. G. Fowler taking charge of Athabasca district; J. H. Buchanan, Westlock and surrounding territory; and Rev. Father J. C. McGee, Lac La Biche and tributary post office points. Three alterations have been made in previous appointments—Don Taylor will have charge of the Vermilion area; C. E. Blakney, St. Albert; and Geo. C. Crooks, for Killam.

A committee meeting Monday night welcomed word from the Edmonton Exhibition Association arranging for five booths at which proms may purchase stamps July 15 to 20.

The committee expressed appreciation of the methods used by a city construction company in overcoming a problem in connection with the employer-employee system of salary deductions. The company's pay roll consists largely of transient and seasonal labor, making the mechanics of the scheme difficult. The following no. of the war savings sales drive, who announced Tuesday that sales of certificates and war savings stamps through Edmonton's chartered banks totaled $3,000 daily.

Good Response
J. G. NICKERSON, manager of the Edmonton branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, and chairman of the Edmonton bankers' committee of the war savings sales drive, who announced Tuesday that sales of certificates and war savings stamps through Edmonton's chartered banks totaled $3,000 daily.

Through The Mill
The little woman was in need of some new finery for these summer days. Hubby decided to take her to the mill and by crook—preferably by crook. He "hopped" around for a while last Saturday and finally something he felt sure would suit the little woman. Unfortunately it was in a parcel in the back seat of an automobile parked in the business section of the city.

The scene then shifts to the domestic tranquility of a city home. The little woman is sitting in many a dress and embraces for bringing home the bacon in the form of the new summer gown. But it seemed he wasn't very careful about the specifications. Without saying a word to her man, the husband had felt hurt, friend wife herself down to the store on the following day and asked to exchange her gift for something in her own size. Right then and there the lady received a shock. An alert clerk telephoned the police. The beautiful gown was one that had been reported stolen from the back seat of a car the previous weekend.

Closing scene in the little drama of misdirected generosity was enacted Tuesday a.m. in the little court where hubby was released $30 and costs, with the option of 60 days in jail, after admitting the theft of the gown.

The magistrate said only the fact that accused has a job to go to saved him from a stiff jail sentence. Now the innocent and embarrassed husband is back in the courtroom. By the intensity and meaning conveyed by the looks she tossed in the direction of friend husband, the letter punishment is just beginning.

A young woman who just can't seem to leave liquor alone was fined $50 and costs with the alternative of two months in jail. She left the bar after serving a 30-day stretch for intoxication just last month.

Post office authorities announced this week that all mail service, including money order service, has been suspended to France, Corsica, Algeria, Tunis, and Morocco, French Morocco and Switzerland. Parcel post service has been suspended to all European countries (except Gibraltar, Portugal and Spain) and to Turkey and Syria in the Near East.

Six months in jail at hard labor was the sentence imposed Monday on George Olynck following a plea of guilty to false pretences involving a stolen car. He was charged with the theft of a 1934 Buick sedan from a home in city streets. Magistrate Miller meted out six-month terms on six charges, but ruled that sentences will run concurrently.

Resident of the Inga district for over 40 years, Mary Butcher, St. Albert, died Tuesday morning at the age of 85 years. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. at the Connelly and McKinley funeral home, with services at 11 a.m. at St. Joseph's cathedral. Rev. Father Reynolds will officiate at the interment taking place in the family plot at Inga cemetery.

In the steel industry, a "whisker" is a thin film of steel adhering to the point of a punch. It is shaved off automatically by the nail-making machine.

Unity Centre
304 Empire Block
Extraordinary General Meeting (Tuesday) following service to discuss suggestions from Kansas City new leadership of Centre.
GEORGE BEVAN, Pres.

Films Developed
25¢
WILLSON STATIONERY
1000 JASPER AVE. EDMONTON

INQUIRIES ON EVACUEES ARE MADE BY BODY

Information Expected
From Ottawa On Care
Of Children

Edmonton committee on child refugees will meet again this week when replies to certain inquiries are received from Ottawa. It was stated Tuesday by D. E. Cameron, chairman.

The committee seeks information as to whether parents of children in Britain, whose children are being cared for by friends in this country, are receiving money from the British government to export the funds.

The provincial committee, under Dr. George A. Macdonald, is holding a meeting Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. to iron out certain problems.

Children's Care Province Affairs

The care of evacuee children from England will be handled by the provincial government and is entirely out of the hands of the city, children were informed at a meeting of the city council Monday evening when the question of suitable accommodation for the children here was raised in answer to an enquiry by Alderman B. McCool.

Commissioners reported that Dr. Crook, provincial minister of health, who has recently returned from Ottawa regarding the question of providing for such children in this province, has been informed by officials that the matter is well in hand and that it has been decided to accept the offer of the St. Mary's Hospital for the care of such children within the province. The school is being used for the purpose.

A-R-O-U-N-D
THE TOWN

Plan for a muster parade on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. will be held at the city hall. The parade will be for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of blankets and fatigue gear for the Canadian volunteers in the front lines.

"Canada's Citizens' Army" was the subject of an address by L. Col. E. Brown, M.M. E.D., at the regular weekly luncheon of the Commandant's Club held Tuesday at the Coronado. Col. Brown dealt with the training, duties and general life of this branch of Canada's armed forces.

Building permits totalling more than $7,000 were issued by the building inspectors at the Civic Block Tuesday. All were for the building of homes, small outbuildings or repairs to homes. The three largest permits were $2,000 issued to Edward Koch for a frame stucco building at 9041 81st avenue, $2,700 to Joe Shyrchuk for a frame stucco house at 10711 103rd street and a frame dwelling costing $1,500 at 11445 44th street and owned by Annie Kostiv.

Plans for the attending of the C.C.F. annual convention to be held at Calgary's Labor Temple on July 10-12, will be discussed by members of the constituency council of the C.C.F. here at a meeting to be held at the Commodore Hotel building, Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. A number of resolutions will be presented at the annual convention.

Formation of a central co-ordination council for Edmonton and district wartime auxiliary services will be made at a meeting in the MacDonald hotel Friday at 4 p.m. It was announced Monday by John Bule, secretary-manager of the Edmonton chamber of commerce. Nearly 100 invitations have been issued to service organizations to attend.

Post office authorities announced this week that all mail service, including money order service, has been suspended to France, Corsica, Algeria, Tunis, and Morocco, French Morocco and Switzerland. Parcel post service has been suspended to all European countries (except Gibraltar, Portugal and Spain) and to Turkey and Syria in the Near East.

Six months in jail at hard labor was the sentence imposed Monday on George Olynck following a plea of guilty to false pretences involving a stolen car. He was charged with the theft of a 1934 Buick sedan from a home in city streets. Magistrate Miller meted out six-month terms on six charges, but ruled that sentences will run concurrently.

Resident of the Inga district for over 40 years, Mary Butcher, St. Albert, died Tuesday morning at the age of 85 years. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. at the Connelly and McKinley funeral home, with services at 11 a.m. at St. Joseph's cathedral. Rev. Father Reynolds will officiate at the interment taking place in the family plot at Inga cemetery.

In the steel industry, a "whisker" is a thin film of steel adhering to the point of a punch. It is shaved off automatically by the nail-making machine.

I Saw Today

BILL WHITTON

turning north on 120 street from Jasper.

Bruce Hall heading west on Jasper in the direction of the Glenora Tennis club. Tommy Iokster in the emergency, the Children's Hospital. Henkel renewing friendships along the main boulevard after his holiday jaunt to Winnipeg. Jack MacQuarrie and Doug Kilbourn in conversation along Jasper. Jack Cox, the western end of the city. Barbara Curtis and Lois Belva in the same area. Ken Parks having some refreshment at a well known main street restaurant. Stan Smith discussing European events with a friend while partaking of a beaker of java.

Camrose school will be able to accommodate 300 children. Commissioners reported that in the case of the school, the Children's Shelter could accommodate about 30 children.

S. Parsons asked if Government House, now vacant, would be available for accommodation for the children if needed. "I have to see a building like government house lying idle," he said.

Boy, Non-Swimmer, Is Victim Of Drowning
In White Mud Creek

Despite frantic efforts of several persons to effect a rescue, Tom Arnul, 13, of 9227 91 street, was drowned in White Mud Creek, just west of the city limits, shortly before 5 p.m. Monday.

The youth, who was unable to swim, slipped 10-foot hole in the creek mouth off west point, close to where the stream joins the Saskatchewan river. Shouts of his companions, Howard and Melville Croone, aged 12 and 10 years, respectively, brought several adult persons to the scene but every effort to reach the boy failed. In failure and young Arnul sank to the bottom.

His body was not recovered until about 8:30 after police had grappled in the hole.

MOTHER IS WIDOW

The dead youth is the son of Mrs. Ethel Arnul. A sister, Dorcas, 12, lives at home with his mother, while two other sisters live away from home. They are Mrs. Daniel Burns, Gunn and Ephie Arnul, Vancouver. The father has been dead for some years.

Mrs. Arnul last saw her boy early Tuesday before she left for her home. She was told by other members of the household that Tom made up a lunch before he left for the White Mud district about 5 o'clock.

Arnul, along with the two Croons, who live at 9041 81st street, left home at about 9 o'clock in the morning for a day's picnicking at White Mud. Howard Croone was the only one of the trio who could swim.

The boys were playing about in the water at about 4:45 p.m. when it was noticed that Arnul had sunk into the deep hole. Shouting at the top of their lungs the two Croons attempted to render assistance to their companion, but young Arnul already had gone down once before Howard Croone, the swimmer, could reach him.

The shouts of the boys brought Jack smiles, who operates a store at the resort, to the scene and he made a desperate attempt to reach the boy, but by this time the boy's body had reached the surface for the last time. Others who tried hard to save the boy were the family, the picnic party and a local policeman.

Three had to run up a steep hill, a considerable distance, to reach the spot where the lad struggled in the water and they were too late to save Arnul as a result.

GRAPPLE FOR BODY

Receiving a call at about 5:30 p.m. Const. Fred Sloss rushed to the scene of the drowning from No. 2 police station on the South Side. With firemen who had been summoned with a pump, the police officer brought grapples hooked, but it was not possible to locate the body for a long period.

Capt. Arthur G. Lauder, of the city fire department, assisted police and several civilians in the grappling operations, and it was through the persistent efforts of all that the youth's body was finally recovered. Scene of the fatality is not far from the headwaters of the Voyageurs Canal Club.

Funeral services for young Arnul

Dominion At War To Preserve Life Professor Avers

Addressing an audience of more than 600 students in Convocation Hall Monday night, Prof. Norman MacKenzie, B.A., LL.B., told them that as teachers it was frequently up to them to give pupils accurate, comprehensive explanations of "Why We Are At War." Prof. MacKenzie is professor of international law at Toronto university.

"Necessary censorship and reserve go together with remoteness of the field of battle to make this question hard to answer with the accuracy that it is the duty of teacher and university professor to observe," he said. "Pupils all over Canada, influenced by American news, illustrate the attitude of the Canadian people who ask why we, the only country of the western hemisphere, should be at war."

"The primary answer to this is that Canada is a part of the British Commonwealth of Nations, is forced by tradition and sentiment, not law, to fight. Our temperamental preference for non-intervention is overridden by the fact that we are fighting for democracy and Christianity, and all that these imply," Prof. MacKenzie continued.

FIGHT FOR LIVES

"Today we are actually fighting for our material existence and our very lives. This attitude has to a large extent grown up since last September when we were finally regarded the war from behind the protection of the British fleet and the Magdalen Islands. Now we fight to continue in our own way of life, not that prescribed by Hitler."

"The exhausted condition of the world after the last war gave fuel to Germany's hate, and prejudiced the people of the world against us, so explaining their lack of preparedness. All feeling of revenge must vanish before we can have lasting peace, and that in itself presupposes friendly relations for a long time."

"The Golden years of 1926-30 seemed to be the answer to this question. The League of Nations had already weakened to such an extent that it was unable to prevent the aggression of Germany or to prevent the aggression of 1939 which all chance of that. If the United States had maintained her neutrality in the European affairs, that weakening might never have taken place."

"We are faced with three ways of preventing war. First, to live in absolute agreement with our neighboring states. Failing that, we must use the potential enemies of war in armaments. Collective security was a possibility, but it has broken down with the League of Nations. The second way is the use of force, that of passive acceptance, unthinkable, but we have not adhered strictly to any of the others up to the present."

FIGHTING FOR LIFE

"Today we are fighting for the right to live, for the welfare, and human life. Given courage, and the will to sacrifice, we can overcome the aggression of Germany or beat her back so that we can make peace on our own terms. Sacrifice is the only way to victory. It is only when we have matched plans for the future, for peace, and for man, that we will be able to bring that victory about," he concluded.

As chairman, Dr. G. F. McNally, deputy minister of education, echoed the importance of those present as teachers, of spreading the accurate story of Canada in her war policy.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION
Lazily dreaming of a holiday to the south, I was startled by the exhibition next week, the Inquiring Reporter set out on a quest to discover how Edmonton women seek to get Dame Fortune on their side at the races here.

THE ANSWERS

PEGGY MACKENZIE, secretary, haven't any system, didn't you know? I'm never worried about systems. The thing that gets me is when I'm going in finance my first bet.

MADGE DOBELL, stenographer: I usually pick the best looking jockeys—as sound a system as any I know.

IDA CHARLESWORTH, stenographer: Shut your eyes and stick a pin in the page and you'll get as close to the winner as if you figure the whole thing out according to plan.

LORNA CLARK, stenographer: I usually get tips from other people. And the people disappear shortly after, and what happens to the horse is equally discouraging.

Full will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at Foster and MacKenzie's at the Columbia (the fields and I fired annually at some of the other boys).

BANFF-JASPER HIGHWAY TOPS' STATES EDITOR

President of Canadian Weekly Newspapers
Praises Scenery

The new Banff-Jasper highway pierces the most wonderful scenery on the continent and should be a great attraction to tourists, in the opinion of Herman E. Rice, mayor of Hantsville, Ontario, and newly-elected president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, who passed through Edmonton Monday night.

Mr. Rice was one of a party of 75 publishers of weekly newspapers who arrived in Edmonton from Jasper park, which they visited after the annual convention of the C. W. N. A. at Calgary. He was accompanied by Mrs. Rice and most of the newspapermen also were attended by their wives.

UNEQUALLED SCENERY

Of the 200 newspapermen who attended the convention, 101 made this trip to Jasper over the new highway.

"I don't suppose there is any scenery in North America to equal that on the Jasper-Banff road," Mr. Rice said. "We spent about four hours at the Columbia (the fields and I fired annually at some of the other boys)."

Mr. Rice was among a number of the party who continued east on the Canadian National railway, at the mouth of the Bow river, to Calgary from Edmonton to attend the stampede.

He was "captivated" by the west and the optimistic, friendly spirit of the people, Mr. Rice said.

The convention at Calgary passed a resolution of loyalty to Canada and promised to back the war effort to the full, he said. They urged all citizens of Canada to make all political and sectarian differences unite in the common cause.

At the mouth of the Bow river, Mr. Rice said he had held this office for nine years and in that time has had only one election contest.

Johnstone Walker Limited

Store Hours: 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Phone 2316—Ask for Dept.

Big Values for Wednesday... Half Day!

17 Beautiful Pastel Coats, One-Third Off! 10.95, 12.95, $15, $25

Fire all-over color cloths in smart, coordinated-tinge, color combinations, lined with lovely two-season fliles.

Shadow and Orchid, Coral Reef, and other new colors. Also in white. Sizes: one-size, 10-14, 16-18, 20-22, 24-26, 28-30, 32-34, 36-38, 40-42, 44-46, 48-50, 52-54, 56-58, 60-62, 64-66, 68-70, 72-74, 76-78, 80-82, 84-86, 88-90, 92-94, 96-98, 100-102, 104-106, 108-110, 112-114, 116-118, 120-122, 124-126, 128-130, 132-134, 136-138, 140-142, 144-146, 148-150, 152-154, 156-158, 160-162, 164-166, 168-170, 172-174, 176-178, 180-182, 184-186, 188-190, 192-194, 196-198, 200-202, 204-206, 208-210, 212-214, 216-218, 220-222, 224-226, 228-230, 232-234, 236-238, 240-242, 244-246, 248-250, 252-254, 256-258, 260-262, 264-266, 268-270, 272-274, 276-278, 280-282, 284-286, 288-290, 292-294, 296-298, 300-302, 304-306, 308-310, 312-314, 316-318, 320-322, 324-326, 328-330, 332-334, 336-338, 340-342, 344-346, 348-350, 352-354, 356-358, 360-362, 364-366, 368-370, 372-374, 376-378, 380-382, 384-386, 388-390, 392-394, 396-398, 400-402, 404-406, 408-410, 412-414, 416-418, 420-422, 424-426, 428-430, 432-434, 436-438, 440-442, 444-446, 448-450, 452-454, 456-458, 460-462, 464-466, 468-470, 472-474, 476-478, 480-482, 484-486, 488-490, 492-494, 496-498, 500-502, 504-506, 508-510, 512-514, 516-518, 520-522, 524-526, 528-530, 532-534, 536-538, 540-542, 544-546, 548-550, 552-554, 556-558, 560-562, 564-566, 568-570, 572-574, 576-578, 580-582, 584-586, 588-590, 592-594, 596-598, 600-602, 604-606, 608-610, 612-614, 616-618, 620-622, 624-626, 628-630, 632-634, 636-638, 640-642, 644-646, 648-650, 652-654, 656-658, 660-662, 664-666, 668-670, 672-674, 676-678, 680-682, 684-686, 688-690, 692-694, 696-698, 700-702, 704-706, 708-710, 712-714, 716-718, 720-722, 724-726, 728-730, 732-734, 736-738, 740-742, 744-746, 748-750, 752-754, 756-758, 760-762, 764-766, 768-770, 772-774, 776-778, 780-782, 784-786, 788-790, 792-794, 796-798, 800-802, 804-806, 808-810, 812-814, 816-818, 820-822, 824-826, 828-830, 832-834, 836-838, 840-842, 844-846, 848-850, 852-854, 856-858, 860-862, 864-866, 868-870, 872-874, 876-878, 880-882, 884-886, 888-890, 892-894, 896-898, 900-902, 904-906, 908-910, 912-914, 916-918, 920-922, 924-926, 928-930, 932-934, 936-938, 940-942, 944-946, 948-950, 952-954, 956-958, 960-962, 964-966, 968-970, 972-974, 976-978, 980-982, 984-986, 988-990, 992-994, 996-998, 1000-1002, 1004-1006, 1008-1010, 1012-1014, 1016-1018, 1020-1022, 1024-1026, 1028-1030, 1032-1034, 1036-1038, 1040-1042, 1044-1046, 1048-1050, 1052-1054, 1056-1058, 1060-1062, 1064-1066, 1068-1070, 1072-1074, 1076-1078, 1080-1082, 1084-1086, 1088-1090, 1092-1094, 1096-1098, 1100-1102, 1104-1106, 1108-1110, 1112-1114, 1116-1118, 1120-1122, 1124-1126, 1128-1130, 1132-1134, 1136-1138, 1140-1142, 1144-1146, 1148-1150, 1152-1154, 1156-1158, 1160-1162, 1164-1166, 1168-1170, 1172-1174, 1176-1178, 1180-1182, 1184-1186, 1188-1190, 1192-1194, 1196-1198, 1200-1202, 1204-1206, 1208-1210, 1212-1214, 1216-1218, 1220-1222, 1224-1226, 1228-1230, 1232-1234, 1236-1238, 1240-1242, 1244-1246, 1248-1250, 1252-1254, 1256-1258, 1260-1262, 1264-1266, 1268-1270, 1272-1274, 1276-1278, 1280-1282, 1284-1286, 1288-1290, 1292-1294, 1296-1298, 1300-1302, 1304-1306, 1308-1310, 1312-1314, 1316-1318, 1320-1322, 1324-1326, 1328-1330, 1332-1334, 1336-1338, 1340-1342, 1344-1346, 1348-1350, 1352-1354, 1356-1358, 1360-1362, 1364-1366, 1368-1370, 1372-1374, 1376-1378, 1380-1382, 1384-1386, 1388-1390, 1392-1394, 1396-1398, 1400-1402, 1404-1406, 1408-1410, 1412-1414, 1416-1418, 1420-1422, 1424-1426, 1428-1430, 1432-1434

Little Orphan Annie

Never Trouble Trouble

—By Gray

The Gumps

A "Handyman" To Have Around

—By Edson

Moon Mullins

Clock Wise

—By Willard

Gasoline Alley

Hello And Good-Bye

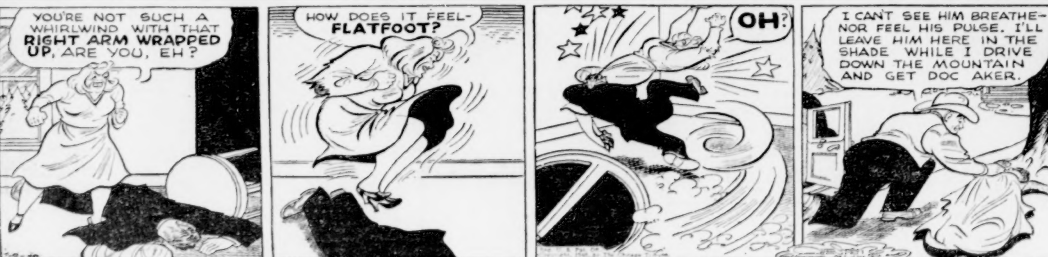

—By King

Dick Tracy

Oh, Doctor

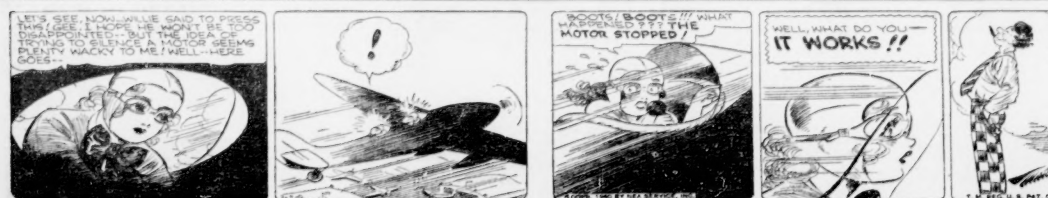

—By Chester Gould

Boots and Her Buddies

Success!

—By Martin

Alley Oop

All Wrapped Up

—By Hamlin

Border Adventure

By Oren Arnold

CAST OF CHARACTERS

BETTY MARY JORDAN—Pretty young Border Patrol service secretary.
SHERIDAN STARR—Handsome Border Patrol officer.
HOPE KILDARE—Starr's fellow officer, also a bachelor.
LUIS BARRO—Mexican smuggler.

Yesterday, but she pine three white sheets, the blonde and a sign. The officer, see them? Just morning the sheets are still up Barro is good.

CHAPTER XXIII

When 10 o'clock and then 11 passed and the time slipped emphatically on toward noon, Betty Mary began to realize that she had acted foolishly when she had tied three sheets to scrubby trees hoping rescuers miles away would see them. Surely, if help were coming it would have come long since, she reasoned.

So despair engulfed her; there in the Barro kitchen. She had done more manual labor in the past 18 hours than she had done in a whole year before. She had washed countless pieces of china and silverware after leaving the island, had stirred a great vat of greasy chili that became appetizing as fatigue assailed her. The foot, the impatient slave, saw to it that she worked; but as long as she kept industrious he let her sleep.

At 11:40 she stepped to a kitchen window for a breath of fresh air. In the Barro kitchen, the Mexican man drive up in a creaky car pulled by two burros. He stopped near the kitchen and began unloading firewood. One of Barro's armed guards cursed him for no reason whatever, but the humble old man just bowed his head, crossed himself and said nothing. Betty Mary felt sorry for him.

Presently a dilapidated automobile chugged up to the kitchen door. Ever vigilant for a chance to escape, Betty Mary went out to see it. In the car, a sort of covered truck, was a butchered beef, the great slabs of meat still warm from animal heat. The fat cook stepped to the door. "What is this?" he demanded of the driver, belligerently.

"A car," a swarthy, little man whined. "Is the meat ordered from Porcia Gomez. Senior Barro order Porcia and meat, because he cannot pay his debt in money."

"Ah!" growled the cook. "Bring in You, muchacha, help him." This last command was addressed to Betty Mary, who was standing nearby.

Instantly, she recoiled from touching a piece of raw beef weighing half as much as she. But she dared not refuse. The Mexican climbed up under the frayed canvas roof of the truck and hauled a hunk of rib meat to face Betty Mary. He saw at once that no one else was near.

"Pa-sa-a-ti!" he suddenly hissed a low warning, then whispered, "Don't be alarmed, Betty Mary! Are you all right?"

Betty half screamed the exclamation. The man was Hope Kildare. "Take this meat, woman!" he bawled at her, in Spanish. "You hear what the cook say! What you think you are, the grand lady, lady!"

He leaned toward her managing to squeeze her wrist as she took the meat from his hands. By sheer force of will then she controlled herself, swallowing hard, and staring at him. But then she took her burden and went inside.

When she came back for more of the beef a quick glance showed Hope that nobody from the house was observing them. Kitchen workers were inside several feet away and guards loitered out of hearing. Betty and Hope got no more chance to talk for the moment, however, because the bewhiskered old wood hauler shuffled up just then.

"Is there any garbage or old trash and such I can take away, senorita y senor?" he asked of them, in Spanish.

Hope had been gripping Betty Mary's wrist again and felt her responsive now, a tightening of her own muscles.

Get the devil out of here, and haul your wood, old man! Hope ordered aloud. Then he whispered to Betty, "It's Sherry! You know?"

"Oh, Sherry! I could—just kiss you!" She was whispering excitedly, about to ask, "You—can't! You and Hope, are such—"

"Yeah, sure. But for Pete's sake!"

She forced herself to enter the act now, and spoke aloud in Spanish. "I will see if you can have the trash. Somebody must haul it away."

She asked the cook about it and he told her irritably to do what she pleased with it. A pile of empty packing boxes, papers, bags, cans and general kitchen rubbish had collected out back, but he was too busy, with Luis Barro's greatly increased household with its alien guests, to pay any attention to trash now. Bravely, he waved her aside.

Animal Crackers

There in broad daylight, the chance of her slipping into the truck unobserved was, of course, slight. Women servants were passing from laundry to the main house, from kitchen to store rooms. Barro's armed guards were naturally observing. Sheridan realized that they had to be extremely clever, and lucky as well. He realized that he and Hope had already been lucky even to reach Betty Mary as easily as they had.

The big officer, well disguised behind his wicker outfit and his false beard, led Hope and Betty Mary in quick whispered consultation. They agreed at once; his plan at least offered a possibility.

Hope, the "butcher," therefore got ostentatiously into his truck, started the motor, allowed the machine to slip apparently out of control about 30 yards down the roadway, and crashed into a post.

The post cracked. The resultant commotion caused all the guards to gather there for a few minutes, and attracted the eyes of all persons outside. Hope did a lot of Spanish cursing and grumbling, backed his truck off, got out to inspect it and the post, got back behind the steering wheel grumbling anew about his damaged axle and fender.

All told, this little disturbance back of the Barro house took perhaps a quarter of an hour. Fifteen or 20 people had come to look curiously on, some to grin at the butcher's discomfiture. Only the old woodcutter had not come, minding his own business he had thrown off his firewood, reloaded with garbage and trash, and was riding away behind his snail-like burro. He pulling out of the road to go around the butcher's truck, removing his hat respectfully. But nobody noticed him.

Sonnysayings

When the truck started off again, everyone drifted back to their respective duties. Another quarter hour passed and the cook ordered his staff to serve the midday meal. For 30 minutes or more the women and men helpers were bustling with activity.

Some time after 1 o'clock the rush was over, and the kitchen staff itself was allowed to eat. Then it was that the cook relaxed, wiped his forehead and sat down before a heaping plate of food. He paused first a few seconds to eye his staff. "Come!" he suddenly barked. "That gringo woman—where is she?"

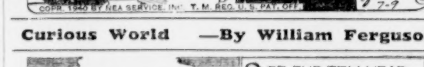

Nobody answered. Nobody knew. (To Be Continued.)

Get yourself some mosquito bar, Tommy. If this is the way we goin' t' make our fortune sworin' bees, we might as well go inter it. RIGHT.

Freckles

—By Merrill Blosser

Curious World

—By William Ferguson

"This is no time for that sort of thing!"

Answer: Wrong. It is a horse entered in a race but withdrawn before the race is run.

